TWO YOUTHFUL BANDITS PLIED TRADE JUST FOR A 'THRILL'

Faribault, Minn., June 23.—(U.P.)—Two youthful bandits confessed they attempted to hold up a grocery store here just for a "thrill." Rice county officials said today as they investigated the shooting of Miss Helen Lindenberg, 17-year-old clerk.

The third member of the bandit trio who did the actual shooting when Miss Lindenberg refused to obey his command to "stick 'em up" was being sought on tips given by his confederates.

The two gave their names as George Washington, 28, and Marion Adams, 21, both living on farms near Faribault.

Miss Lindenberg was recovering from a bullet wound in the shoulder, her doctor said.

The two were captured when customers in the store who were enraged by the cold-blooded shooting overpowered the two as the other member escaped.

WHEAT DROPS AT OPENING OF CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

Chicago, June 23.—(U.P.)—Wheat prices dropped 3/4 to two cents at the opening on the Chicago Board of Trade today after a Federal Farm board announcement that the board does not propose to withhold its surplus from the market.

The Farm board statement practically undid the buoyant effect of President Hoover's proposal for a one-year war debt moratorium, which caused gains yesterday ranging to 2 1/2 cents.

Other factors contributing to the price drop included weakness at foreign markets and reports of rain in the Canadian and United States northwest wheat belts.

At the opening on the Chicago market today, July wheat was off 1/4 to 2 at 51 1/4; September was off 3/4 at 59 1/4, and December off 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 at 62 1/4.

Corn futures were from 1/4 to 1 1/2 lower and oats were off 1/2 to 3/4.

38TH TRIENNIAL CONCLAVE OF THE ORDER FEATURES PAGEANTRY

BRAINERD REPRESENTED BY COMMANDERY AND LEGION AUXILIARY BAND

Minneapolis, Minn., June 23.—(U.P.)—Beneath red canopies, such as bedecked London's thoroughfares as the Crusaders departed, 10,000 plumed Knights Templar paraded before their leaders today as part of the thirty-eighth triennial conclave of the order.

Each of the 1,700 commanders representing 47 states took part in the four-mile long parade which marched on the parade grounds where the capture of the ancient city of Antioch by the Moslem hordes and the formation of the Knights Templar were depicted.

Accompanied by 50 bands, various mounted commanderies of the order maneuvered through difficult evolutions. Other groups on foot marched in formations of crosses emblematic of the Knights Templar order.

More than 100,000 residents of Minneapolis as well as the 35,000 Templars and their families occupied the downtown district which was closed to all vehicular traffic.

Leading the parade will be Most Eminent Grand Master William L. Sharp and his personal escort including the 72-piece Englewood Commandery Band of Chicago.

The largest single city commandery is that of Detroit. The San Francisco delegation is out to bring the 1934 conclave to the Pacific coast.

Brainerd is represented by a commandery of 40 and the American Legion Auxiliary Band of 20.

After the review and ceremonies at the parade grounds, a session of the Grand Encampment will be held at the Scottish Rite Temple. This meeting will last the bulk of the day and will be adjourned in time for a second performance of Il Trovatore at Lake Harriet at 8 P. M.

The party left Menominee, Mich., for Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Sunday in a 24 foot cabin cruiser. The motor stalled. High northwest winds made the bay choppy and they drifted helplessly.

The boys were Fred Baldwin, owner of the launch; Harry and Bert Cooney, Francis Pallado and John Stiles, of Menominee. The girls' names were not revealed, but they were from Menominee.

Charred Bones Found Near Washington County Line Indicate Possible Human "Torch" Slaying

FARMERS SAW 3 AT PILE OF STUMPS SETTING IT AFIRE

CHARRED BONES SAID TO RESEMBLE HUMAN SHIN BONE, SKULL

THE SHERIFFS OF RAMSEY AND WASHINGTON COUNTIES ARE NOTIFIED

St. Paul, Minn., June 23.—(U.P.)—Charred bones found in a burned pile of stumps near the Washington county line were being studied today by Ramsey county officials for the possibility of a human "torch" slaying.

Early investigation did not establish definitely that the bones were those of a human but farmers living near the site where the stumps had been ignited said they had seen three men near the pile setting it afire.

The charred remains, which were said to resemble a human shin bone, a jawbone and a skull, were found by William Morris, a farmer, and his family.

Morris' farm is on the Eagle Point road between the Stillwater road and a continuation of Minnehaha street, about a mile and a half from the Ramsey county line.

Authorities held three theories. One was that gangsters had taken a victim for a ride, killed him and then burned his body on the huge pyre. Another was that the victim had been burned alive. The third was that the bones might not be those of a human.

Maegre clues included descriptions of three men seen near the huge pile of stumps Monday night and imprints of automobile tires near the stumps.

Elmer Reimenschneider, St. Paul, Morris' son-in-law, said he saw three men kneeling near the pile of stumps. One of the men, he reported, held a container.

Frank Schilkin, another son-in-law who arrived later in the evening from his home at Tannery Lake, said the stumps were on fire. The three men set out for the fire but it was so hot they could not investigate.

Returning today, they found the bones, two empty gunpowder cans and a partially burned fuse. Both Sheriff George Moeller of Ramsey county and Thomas Maher of Washington county were notified.

POST AND GATTY AT HARBOR GRACE

ARRIVE THERE ON FIRST LEG OF THEIR ROUND THE WORLD FLIGHT

Harbor Grace, N. F., June 23.—(U.P.)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty departed at 3:27 P. M. EDT. today on their projected trans-Atlantic flight to Berlin.

The American fliers arrived here on the first lap of their flight this afternoon and departed after refueling. Weather conditions were favorable.

There was a 30-mile an hour wind blowing to aid the two fliers on their long over-water voyage. A slight haze prevailed to the eastward.

Harbor Grace, June 23.—(U.P.)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who arrived here today on the first leg of their round the world flight, made preparations to get away this afternoon on the long over-water flight to Berlin.

As soon as refueling was completed, they ordered their craft tuned up for the trans-Atlantic flight. There was a strong westerly wind. The local forecast was favorable.

They estimate it will take approximately 30 hours to fly to Berlin.

Post and Gatty are both expert pilots and will relieve one another at the controls. If they succeed in reaching Berlin without mishap, the pair will take on more fuel and take off almost immediately for a non-stop flight to Moscow on the second leg of their 25,000-mile flight.

From there they plan to make stops at Irkutsk, Yakutsk, Nome, Alaska, Edmonton, Canada, and thence to New York. They propose to make the trip as speedily as possible. The present record of 20 days, four hours, is held by the Graf Zeppelin, a lighter-than-air craft, from Friedrichshafen to Friedrichshafen. The record for heavier-than-air craft is held by John H. Mears and Capt. C. B. D. Collyer, who circled the globe in 23 days, 15 hours, 21 minutes, three seconds, in 1929.

Painted Starr!

C. N. Anderson (above), Greenwich Village artist, in New York, has admitted to authorities investigating the strange death of Starr Faithfull, pretty erotic heiress, that he painted her on several occasions when she posed for him, but beyond that he knows nothing of value concerning the mysterious case. Starr's body was washed ashore at Long Beach, L. I., four days after she disappeared from home.

SEARCH RUINS FOR ST. JOHN FIRE FOR POSSIBLE VICTIMS

$10,000,000 CONFLAGRATION DESTROYED PROPERTY ALONG WATERFRONT

CATASTROPHE IS WORST FIRE THE CITY HAS SEEN IN TEN YEARS

St. John, N. B., June 23.—(U.P.)—Salvage and rescue workers searched the blackened ruins along the west side of St. John harbor today for possible victims of the fire which destroyed property for 500 yards along the waterfront yesterday.

Norman Herring, formerly of Haccensack, N. J., was the only person reported missing. He was reported last seen crawling toward a vault in the United Fruit Co. offices, in a building already in flames.

The fire destroyed 11 docks with their sheds and grain conveyors. The damage estimate remained at upwards of $10,000,000. The catastrophe was the worst fire here in the last ten years.

The ferry steamer Empress was sunk at her berth to prevent spread of flames to craft at nearby docks.

Railway property suffered extensive damage. Firemen were helpless before the flames, which were fanned by a stiff wind from the west.

The public debt, which has been reduced nearly $10,000,000,000 during Mellon's regime, now is beginning to edge slightly upward again. It was $26,596,000,000 at the close of the war. Now it stands at about $16,185,000,000 after going temporarily to a slightly lower figure. The $62,000,000 which could be applied during the next fiscal year from foreign debt payments if there were no moratorium would make

U. S. TAXPAYER LOSES NOTHING IN MORATORIUM PLAN

TEMPORARY LOSS TO TREASURY OFFSET BY GOOD EFFECTS REVIVING BUSINESS

"IF IT TURNS TIDE, IT WILL BE GOOD INVESTMENT FOR U. S. TREASURY"

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, June 23.—The American taxpayer stands to lose nothing in the long run under the Hoover debt moratorium plan, according to officials here who hold that the temporary loss to the treasury would be offset by the general good effects in reviving business.

"If it turns the tide, this will be a darned good investment for the U. S. treasury," was the way Acting Secretary Ogden L. Mills put it, adding that the upswing of the stock market gave every indication that it would turn the tide.

Acting Chairman Carl Williams of the federal farm board likewise characterized the Hoover proposal as "bullish news of the best kind" for American agriculture. Yesterday's advances in wheat and cotton were said by Williams to be an indication of what might be expected if the debt negotiations prove successful.

The treasury would lose $246,000,000 by stopping of foreign debt payments in the next fiscal year, beginning July 1. Of this total, only $184,000,000 representing interest, could be applied to operating expenses, the rest $62,000,000 of principal being applied to the public debt under the law.

This temporary addition to the deficit would be offset in time, it was held, by increased revenues which would follow recovery of business.

The treasury deficit at the end of this fiscal year, June 30, is expected to be around $850,000,000. Secretary of Treasury Mellon has forecast a deficit for the next fiscal year, but has not estimated the amount. It is bound to be large.

The administration is opposed to any tax increase at the next session of congress, planning instead to submit a program of general revision after the national elections in 1932. The loss of $184,000,000 in revenue will not change the situation any.

The treasury has applied foreign debt interest payments to operating expenses during the past year for the first time. The law permits this, but requires that principal payments be applied to the public debt. A total of $184,474,622 in interest has been used for operating expenses.

The public debt, which has been reduced nearly $10,000,000,000 during Mellon's regime, now is beginning to edge slightly upward again. It was $26,596,000,000 at the close of the war. ANTI-SEMITIC RIOTING BREAKS OUT AT THE VIENNA UNIVERSITY

RUTH NICHOLS INJURED LANDING AT ST. JOHN FIELD

NOT SERIOUSLY HURT, X-RAY PICTURES TO BE TAKEN OF HER BACK

HER LOCKHEED-VEGA GOLD AND WHITE MONOPLANE BADLY DAMAGED

St. Johns, N. B., June 23.—(U.P.)—Miss Ruth Nichols, 32-year-old Rye, N. Y., society girl, was undergoing hospital treatment today for injuries received when her white and gold monoplane in which she had planned to be the first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic ocean, cracked up in landing here on the first leg of the journey.

Although physicians believed Miss Nichols was not seriously injured, they planned to make several X-ray pictures of her back. They reported that a preliminary examination showed she suffered a strained back and a wrenched ligament as well as a laceration of the right leg.

Her Lockheed-Vega monoplane was badly damaged by the crash. The under-carriage, of special construction for the proposed flight, was smashed. The engine also was damaged and partly torn from the fuselage.

Clarence Chamberlain, trans-Atlantic flyer and technical advisor to Miss Nichols, who arrived shortly after the crash, was reported in a conversation with Miss Nichols at the hospital to have expressed the opinion a new plane would be necessary before she could make another attempt at a long over-water hop. Aviation experts said that at best it would take several weeks to put her craft in flying condition.

Miss Nichols took off from the Floyd Bennett airport in New York City at 3:22 P. M. yesterday to make a record flight to the local city airport here.

Due to the direction of the wind, Miss Nichols was forced to attempt a landing. The glare of the setting sun against the windshield of the craft caused her to overshoot the runway and the plane tipped up on its nose. She was lifted from the craft and taken to the local hospital.

She said she thought she had made allowances for the sun glare and in her anxiety about putting the plane down too soon failed to take into consideration the size of the field. She said she feared to set the craft down until she had lost flying speed as she had had trouble with making a fast landing in New York shortly before her take-off.

"I guess I must have waited too long this time," she told Chamberlain. The young woman seemed more concerned over damage to her craft than to her own injuries. She also expressed concern over causing her mother any worry and immediately dispatched a telegram to her home at Rye, informing Mrs. Nichols her injuries were not serious.

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, June 23.—Holger Hoiris and Otto Hillig, who have their monoplane here awaiting favorable weather for an attempted non-stop flight to Denmark, expressed "great sympathy" today over Ruth Nichols' crash and attributed it to the condition of the landing field at St. John, N. B.

The fliers, who arrived here from St. John, N. B., yesterday afternoon, said the field is only about 1,500 feet long and covered with cinders, giving extremely poor visibility to an approaching aviator. High bushes surround the field, they said, leaving only a small margin of space for a pilot to maneuver for a landing.

MISSING JOHN M. SMITH IS FINALLY LOCATED

Garner, Iowa, June 23.—(U.P.)—John M. Smith, Perry, Iowa, who disappeared Feb. 3, was believed found today. A man answering his description who told the sheriff he was Smith, was found bound and in a dazed condition on a highway near here today.

A truck belonging to Smith's insecticide manufacturing company was found burned near Perry, Iowa, in February. It contained the body of a man at first believed to be Smith, but later proved to have been embalmed and to have been dead for some time.

Smith was farmer-labor candidate for governor last year. He carried $50,000 life insurance.

CABINET MEETS TO FRAME REPLY TO THE GOVERNMENT

MAY INSIST ON GERMANY PAYING PART OF "UNCONDITIONAL REPARATIONS"

4 INTERPELLATIONS SCHEDULED SO FAR FOR CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES (By United Press)

Acceptance by France, with reservations, of President Hoover's war debts and reparations holiday scheme seems assured.

The French press, however, was insistent on reservations, including partial payment of the "unconditional annuities" from Germany. Definite reply was expected by Friday.

Optimism prevailed in Germany, although Chancellor Heinrich Brüning emphasized that no immediate tax relief was expected.

Italy regarded the plan with favor. Unofficial expressions praising President Hoover's initiative were issued. Moscow continued skeptical, with renewed prophecies of a proletarian "revolution" in Germany.

Various markets over the world opened strong again. Confidence grew in commercial and financial quarters of many countries.

By RALPH HEINZEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, June 23.—Acceptance by France of President Hoover's war debts proposals, with reservations, was considered assured today.

The cabinet met to frame the government's reply to the Hoover plan, possibly submitting a counter-proposal while accepting, in the main, the American scheme to effect a year's moratorium. A reply by Friday was expected.

The major reservation which the French can be expected to insist upon may be a demand that Germany continue to pay at least a portion of the "unconditional reparations payments" under the Young plan. The payments could be made to the bank of international settlements at Basle, where they would be held as an intangible asset constituting a guarantee fund.

Premier Pierre Laval was bothered particularly by parliament's open hostility and the threat to overthrow the cabinet if it seeks to reply to the Hoover project without consulting parliament.

The foreign office has begun an exchange of views with Belgium and Italy on President Hoover's war debts proposals.

The moderate socialist, Camille Planche, announced he intended to refer an interpellation in the chamber of deputies on the Hoover plan. This makes four interpellations scheduled so far.

The council of ministers met for three hours and issued a communique saying the Hoover debts plan would be studied further in another meeting tomorrow.

It was indicated that the reply probably will pay tribute to President Hoover's initiative, but insist that France would find difficulty in breaking away from the Young plan concerning the "unconditional annuities" from Germany.

The cabinet issued a communique which said:

"The council has examined President Hoover's proposal with relation to inter-governmental payments of debts and reparations. Foreign Minister Briand told the council the circumstances under which the government was advised of the proposition.

"Finance Minister Flaminio and Minister of the Budget Pietri outlined the consequences of the American proposal on French finances. The discussions will continue Wednesday, at which time the text of the reply to the president of the United States will be decided upon."

The newspaper Intransigeant said it understood the United States and the allied powers would float a loan of $3,000,000,000 to reimburse their budgets for the funds waived from German annuities. The loan would be guaranteed by the United States and other governments, including Germany, which would subscribe to a portion, the newspaper said.

LOSES ALL FAITH IN RULES OF PERCENTAGE

Chicago, June 23.—(U.P.)—Charles Russell, 36, declared today in a jail cell that he has lost all faith in the rules of percentage.

Russell tried to sell some clothes to Mrs. Mary Miller, at her butcher shop. Mrs. Miller recognized the clothes as some stolen four days ago from her home. She had Russell arrested.

"Just imagine it," said Russell, "with 3,000,000 people in Chicago to sell clothes to—and I had to pick her!"

Elmer Reimensehneider, St. Paul, Morris's son-in-law, said he saw three men kneeling near the pile of stumps. One of the men, he reported, held a container.

Frank Schilkin, another son-in-law who arrived later in the evening from his home at Tannery Lake, said the stumps were on fire. The three men set out for the fire but it was so hot they could not investigate.

Returning today, they found the bones, two empty gunpowder cans and a partially burned fuse. Both Sheriff George Moeller of Ramsey county and Thomas Maher of Washington county were notified.

POST AND GATTY AT HARBOR GRACE

ARRIVE THERE ON FIRST LEG OF THEIR ROUND THE WORLD FLIGHT

Harbor Grace, N. F., June 23.—(U.P.)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty departed at 3:27 P. M. EDT. today on their projected trans-Atlantic flight to Berlin.

The American fliers arrived here on the first lap of their flight this afternoon and departed after refueling. Weather conditions were favorable.

There was a 30-mile an hour wind blowing to aid the two fliers on their long over-water voyage. A slight haze prevailed to the eastward.

Harbor Grace, June 23.—(U.P.)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who arrived here today on the first leg of their round the world flight, made preparations to get away this afternoon on the long over-water flight to Berlin.

As soon as refueling was completed, they ordered their craft tuned up for the trans-Atlantic flight. There was a strong westerly wind. The local forecast was favorable.

They estimate it will take approximately 30 hours to fly to Berlin. Post and Gatty are both expert pilots and will relieve one another at the controls. If they succeed in reaching Berlin without mishap, the pair will take on more fuel and take off almost immediately for a non-stop flight to Moscow on the second leg of their 25,000-mile flight.

From there they plan to make stops at Irkutsk, Yakutsk, Nome, Alaska, Edmonton, Canada, and thence to New York. They propose to make the trip as speedily as possible. The present record of 20 days, four hours, is held by the Graf Zeppelin, a lighter-than-air craft, from Friedrichshafen to Friedrichshafen. The record for heavier-than-air craft is held by John H. Mears and Capt. C. B. D. Collyer, who circled the globe in 23 days, 15 hours, 21 minutes, three seconds, in 1929.

SEARCH RUINS FOR ST. JOHN FIRE FOR POSSIBLE VICTIMS

$10,000,000 CONFLAGRATION DESTROYED PROPERTY ALONG WATERFRONT

CATASTROPHE IS WORST FIRE THE CITY HAS SEEN IN TEN YEARS

St. John, N. B., June 23.—(U.P.)—Salvage and rescue workers searched the blackened ruins along the west side of St. John harbor today for possible victims of the fire which destroyed property for 500 yards along the waterfront yesterday.

Norman Herring, formerly of Hackensack, N. J., was the only person reported missing. He was reported last seen crawling toward a vault in the United Fruit Co. offices, in a building already in flames.

The fire destroyed 11 docks with their sheds and grain conveyors. The damage estimate remained at upwards of $10,000,000. The catastrophe was the worst fire here in the last ten years.

The ferry steamer Empress was sunk at her berth to prevent spread of flames to craft at nearby docks.

Railway property suffered extensive damage. Firemen were helpless before the flames, which were fanned by a stiff wind from the northwest.

The public debt, which has been reduced nearly $10,000,000 during Mellon's regime, now is beginning to edge slightly upward again. It was $26,596,000,000 at the close of the war. Now it stands at about $16,185,000,000 after going temporarily to a slightly lower figure. The $62,000,000 which could be applied during the next fiscal year from foreign debt payments if there were no moratorium would make

U. S. TAXPAYER LOSES NOTHING IN MORATORIUM PLAN

TEMPORARY LOSS TO TREASURY OFFSET BY GOOD EFFECTS REVIVING BUSINESS

"IF IT TURNS TIDE, IT WILL BE GOOD INVESTMENT FOR U. S. TREASURY"

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, June 23.—The American taxpayer stands to lose nothing in the long run under the Hoover debt moratorium plan, according to officials here who hold that the temporary loss to the treasury would be offset by the general good effects in reviving business.

"If it turns the tide, this will be a darned good investment for the U. S. treasury," was the way Acting Secretary Ogden L. Mills put it, adding that the upswing of the stock market gave every indication that it would turn the tide.

Acting Chairman Carl Williams of the federal farm board likewise characterized the Hoover proposal as "bullish news of the best kind" for American agriculture. Yesterday's advances in wheat and cotton were said by Williams to be an indication of what might be expected if the debt negotiations prove successful.

The treasury would lose $246,000,000 by stopping of foreign debt payments in the next fiscal year, beginning July 1. Of this total, only $184,000,000 representing interest, could be applied to operating expenses, the rest $62,000,000 of principal being applied to the public debt under the law.

This temporary addition to the deficit would be offset in time, it was held, by increased revenues which would follow recovery of business.

The treasury deficit at the end of this fiscal year, June 30, is expected to be around $850,000,000. Secretary of Treasury Mellon has forecast a deficit for the next fiscal year, but has not estimated the amount. It is bound to be large.

The administration is opposed to any tax increase at the next session of congress, planning instead to submit a program of general revision after the national elections in 1932. The loss of $184,000,000 in revenue will not change the situation any.

The treasury has applied foreign debt interest payments to operating expenses during the past year for the first time. The law permits this, but requires that principal payments be applied to the public debt. A total of $184,474,622 in interest has been used for operating expenses.

The public debt, which has been reduced nearly $10,000,000 during Mellon's regime, now is beginning to edge slightly upward again. It was $26,596,000,000 at the close of the war. Now it stands at about $16,185,000,000 after going temporarily to a slightly lower figure. Vienna, Austria, June 23.—(U.P.)—Anti-semitic rioting broke out at Vienna university today after the Austrian constitutional court had nullified a university regulation depriving Jewish students of the right to vote on university affairs. Ten Jewish students were seriously injured.

RUTH NICHOLS INJURED LANDING AT ST. JOHN FIELD

NOT SERIOUSLY HURT, X-RAY PICTURES TO BE TAKEN OF HER BACK

HER LOCKHEED-VEGA GOLD AND WHITE MONOPLANE BADLY DAMAGED

St. John, N. B., June 23.—(U.P.)—Miss Ruth Nichols, 32-year-old Rye, N. Y. society girl, was undergoing hospital treatment today for injuries received when her white and gold monoplane in which she had planned to be the first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic ocean, cracked up in landing here on the first leg of the journey.

Although physicians believed Miss Nichols was not seriously injured, they planned to make several x-ray pictures of her back. They reported that a preliminary examination showed she suffered a strained back and a laceration of the right leg.

Her Lockheed-Vega monoplane was badly damaged by the crash. The under-carriage, of special construction for the proposed flight, was smashed. The engine also was damaged and partly torn from the fuselage.

Clarence Chamberlain, trans-Atlantic flyer and technical advisor to Miss Nichols, who arrived shortly after the crash, was reported in a conversation with Miss Nichols at the hospital to have expressed the opinion a new plane would be necessary before she could make another attempt at the long over-water hop. Aviation experts said that at best it would take several weeks to put her craft in flying condition.

Miss Nichols took off from the Floyd Bennett airport in New York City at 3:22 P. M. yesterday to make a record flight to the local city airport here.

Due to the direction of the wind, Miss Nichols was forced to attempt a landing. The glare of the setting sun against the windshield of the craft caused her to overshoot the runway and the plane tipped up on its nose. She was lifted from the craft and taken to the local hospital.

She said she thought she had made allowances for the sun glare and in her anxiety about putting the plane down too soon failed to take into consideration the size of the field. She said she feared to set the craft down until she had lost flying speed as she had had trouble with making a fast landing in New York shortly before her take-off.

"I guess I must have waited too long this time," she told Chamberlain. The young woman seemed more concerned over damage to her craft than to her own injuries. She also expressed concern over causing her mother any worry and immediately dispatched telegram to her home at Rye, informing Mrs. Nichols her injuries were not serious.

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, June 23.—Holger Hoiris and Otto Hillig, who have their monoplane here awaiting favorable weather for an attempted non-stop flight to Denmark, expressed "great sympathy" today over Ruth Nichols' crash and attributed it to the condition of the landing field at St. John, N. B.

The fliers, who arrived here from St. John, N. B., yesterday afternoon, said the field is only about 1,500 feet long and covered with cinders, giving extremely poor visibility to an approaching aviator. High bushes surround the field, they said, leaving only a small margin of space for a pilot to maneuver for a landing.

MISSING JOHN M. SMITH IS FINALLY LOCATED

Garner, Iowa, June 23.—(U.P.)—John M. Smith, Perry, Iowa, who disappeared Feb. 3, was believed found today. A man answering his description who told the sheriff he was Smith, was found bound and in a dazed condition on a highway near here today.

A truck belonging to Smith's insecticide manufacturing company was found burned near Perry, Iowa, in February. It contained the body of a man at first believed to be Smith, but later proved to have been embalmed and to have been dead for some time.

Smith was farmer-labor candidate for governor last year. He carried $50,000 life insurance.

CABINET MEETS TO FRAME REPLY TO THE GOVERNMENT

MAY INSIST ON GERMANY PAYING PART OF "UNCONDITIONAL REPARATIONS"

4 INTERPELLATIONS SCHEDULED SO FAR FOR CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES (By United Press)

Acceptance by France, with reservations, of President Hoover's war debts and reparations holiday scheme seems assured.

The French press, however, was insistent on reservations, including partial payment of the "unconditional annuities" from Germany. Definite reply was expected by Friday.

Optimism prevailed in Germany, although Chancellor Heinrich Brüning emphasized that no immediate tax relief was expected.

Italy regarded the plan with favor. Unofficial expressions praising President Hoover's initiative were issued. Moscow continued skeptical, with renewed prophecies of a proletarian "revolution" in Germany.

Various markets over the world opened strong again. Confidence grew in commercial and financial quarters of many countries.

By RALPH HEINZEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Paris, June 23.—Acceptance by France of President Hoover's war debts proposals, with reservations, was considered assured today.

The cabinet met to frame the government's reply to the Hoover plan, possibly submitting a counter-proposal while accepting, in the main, the American scheme to effect a year's moratorium. A reply by Friday was expected.

The major reservation which the French can be expected to insist upon may be a demand that Germany continue to pay at least a portion of the "unconditional reparations payments" under the Young plan. The payments could be made to the bank of international settlements at Basle, where they would be held as an intangible asset constituting a guarantee fund.

Premier Pierre Laval was bothered particularly by parliament's open hostility and the threat to overthrow the cabinet if it seeks to reply to the Hoover project without consulting parliament.

The foreign office has begun an exchange of views with Belgium and Italy on President Hoover's war debts proposals.

The moderate socialist, Camille Planche, announced he intended to refer an interpellation in the chamber of deputies on the Hoover plan. This makes four interpellations scheduled so far.

The council of ministers met for three hours and issued a communique saying the Hoover debts plan would be studied further in another meeting tomorrow.

It was indicated that the reply probably will pay tribute to President Hoover's initiative, but insist that France would find difficulty in breaking away from the Young plan concerning the "unconditional annuities" from Germany.

The cabinet issued a communique which said: "The council has examined President Hoover's proposal with relation to inter-governmental payments of debts and reparations. Foreign Minister Briand told the council the circumstances under which the government was advised of the proposition."

"Finance Minister Flandin and Minister of the Budget Pietri outlined the consequences of the American proposal on French finances. The discussions will continue Wednesday, at which time the text of the reply to the president of the United States will be decided upon."

The newspaper Intransigeant said it understood the United States and the allied powers would float a loan of $3,000,000,000 to reimburse their budgets for the funds waived from German annuities. The loan would be guaranteed by the United States and other governments, including Germany, which would subscribe to a portion, the newspaper said.

LOSES ALL FAITH IN RULES OF PERCENTAGE

Chicago, June 23.—(U.P.)—Charles Russell, 36, declared today in a jail cell that he has lost all faith in the rules of percentage.

Russell tried to sell some clothes to Mrs. Mary Miller, at her butcher shop. Mrs. Miller recognized the clothes as some stolen four days ago from her home. She had Russell arrested.

"Just imagine it," said Russell, "with 3,000,000 people in Chicago to sell clothes to—and I had to pick her!"

Fashions for the Smart Woman

MINUTIVE SMARTNESS

Although it's true that innocents look cute in anything, they aren't really adorable until they are dressed in the celestial combination of pastel pink and blue, which is being worn to parties this season by the most fashionable four-year-olds. This frock is a pale blue-crepe with a widely spaced motif of tiny pink flowers. The Peter Pan collar closes in back at a slashed neck opening. Tiny tucks trim the front and back of the frock, and wristbands finish the long, full sleeves. The panties smartly match the blue, and the collar and wristbands are pale pink crepe.

Pictorial Printed Pattern No. 5203. Sizes 1, 2, 4, and 6 years, 35 cents.

Revolutionized Air Fighting

Fokker, then twenty-four years old, had never before handled a machine gun, but he invented the synchronized gun and put it to practical test within 48 hours.

Life's Anxieties

Consider your Adam's Apple!!*

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Touch your Adam's Apple with your finger. You are actually touching your larynx - this is your voice box - it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat - your vocal chords.

Profit by the statements of 20,679 American physicians that LUCKIES are less irritating than other cigarettes. Don't overlook that periodic health examination they recommend.

LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOAST-ING" Process expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. That is your throat protection - against irritation - against cough. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple". Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

Profit by the statements of 20,679 American physicians that LUCKIES are less irritating than other cigarettes. Don't overlook that periodic health examination they recommend.

LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. That is your throat protection - against irritation - against cough. Merry Political Turmoil in Washington

THINGS are all upset in the state of Washington where Gov. Roland Hartley is to overturn all precedents in the Republican party by making his third campaign for the governorship. No Republican, except himself, was elected twice. If he lives to the end of his second term he will be the only governor in Washington state history to do so.

The odd part of the publicity which Gov. Hartley is getting is that he has been declared a novice in politics when he came to Washington. The truth of the matter is that he comes from a family of politicians who, like Alvah Eastman says, took to the game like ducks to a pond. Washington state ought to know by this time that Governor Hartley is no novice.

When the last legislature adjourned, Gov. Hartley had vetoed about a third of the legislation passed by house and senate and his veto messages had as a keynote the cutting down of old taxation and forbidding methods of new taxation.

There has been open battle for six years between the governor and the elective attorney general, land commissioner and state auditor. He has fought house and senate and the state educational institutions.

The governor calls a spade a spade. His language is picturesque. His meaning is never in doubt. After one outpouring of his wrath against some measure, nobody has ever had the temerity to cup hand to ear and exclaim: "What did you say?" When the governor speaks, everybody hears him the first time.

"I would not call a state senator a jackass. It would be unfair to the jackass," he wrote in a veto message, covering a senate bill. The Brainerd Dispatch has previously referred to some of his veto messages, some of them carrying the most biting sarcasm.

Brainerd friends, knowing the governor, are almost a unit in believing that he will win his third campaign for the governorship.

Crow Wing County Historical Society

THE officers of the Crow Wing County Historical Society have secured the use of a room in the old court house, had it redecorated, and in it have arranged a collection of photographs, Indian relics and pioneer tools and implements connected with the early history of this section that should be of great interest and value to this and coming generations. They have done all that a small group of workers can do. Now it remains to be seen what the townspeople of Brainerd and the rural population of the county will do to further the enterprise.

The room, formerly W. A. M. Johnstone's office in the old court house on North Fourth street, will be open Thursday afternoons from 2 to 5 o'clock throughout the summer. The secretary will be there to receive visitors, also to receive, label and catalog the contributions to the museum collection, which it is hoped the citizens of the county will be induced to make.

The officers are busy with efforts to secure loan exhibits from time to time. It is to be regretted that a greater number did not avail themselves of the opportunity to see the splendid collection loaned by F. T. Gustavson of Pequot last week.

Judge B. F. Wright of Park Rapids, who was one of the visitors to the museum last Wednesday, said: "I wish to congratulate the society on the splendid start they have made here, and on their good fortune in securing so excellent a collection for the loan exhibit for their opening. Let us hope this undertaking will prosper as it deserves."

Have you done your share in aiding in the development of the new historical museum room? Several more chairs and rugs are needed, preferably old but not too frail ones; and more contributions to the collection of pictures and photographs of early Brainerd, records and reminiscences, Indian relics, old tools and implements are greatly desired.

A small group of people can start an enterprise of this kind, but it needs community backing to keep it up and help it grow.

The Garden Cure

ROTARIANS at Muncie, Indiana, are lending a hand to a project which, though it will not solve the unemployment problem of that community, will, nevertheless, keep some of the idle hands busy and later will ease the pantry problem in several indigent homes.

Five hundred vacant lots, provided by the local real estate board, have been turned over to needy families for gardening. Seed, fertilizer and expert instructions were furnished through a public-spirited woman, who believes in matching her good wishes with dollars.

A local industry was persuaded to lend a forty-acre tract for a community garden. Here may labor the unemployed of the city, with an allowance of fifty cents an hour, payable in food or fuel through the social-service bureau. Food produced will be stored for later distribution to needy families.

This is not a panacea for unemployment ills of Muncie. But it doubtless helps.

Too Much Uncertainty in Nautilus Cruise

So much uncertainty has attended the movements of the submarine, Nautilus, to date that the dirigible Graf Zeppelin management has given up the idea of meeting the sub in a North Pole tryst.

The Nautilus faced a world of danger crossing the Atlantic, an ocean known to navigators for centuries and one wonders what its experiences will be in the Arctic with no friendly warship Wyoming to toss out a tow line or play its searchlight beams on the submarine.

Governor Remembers Lake Country

YESTERDAY visiting Knights Templar officers were entertained at a luncheon given by Minneapolis service clubs.

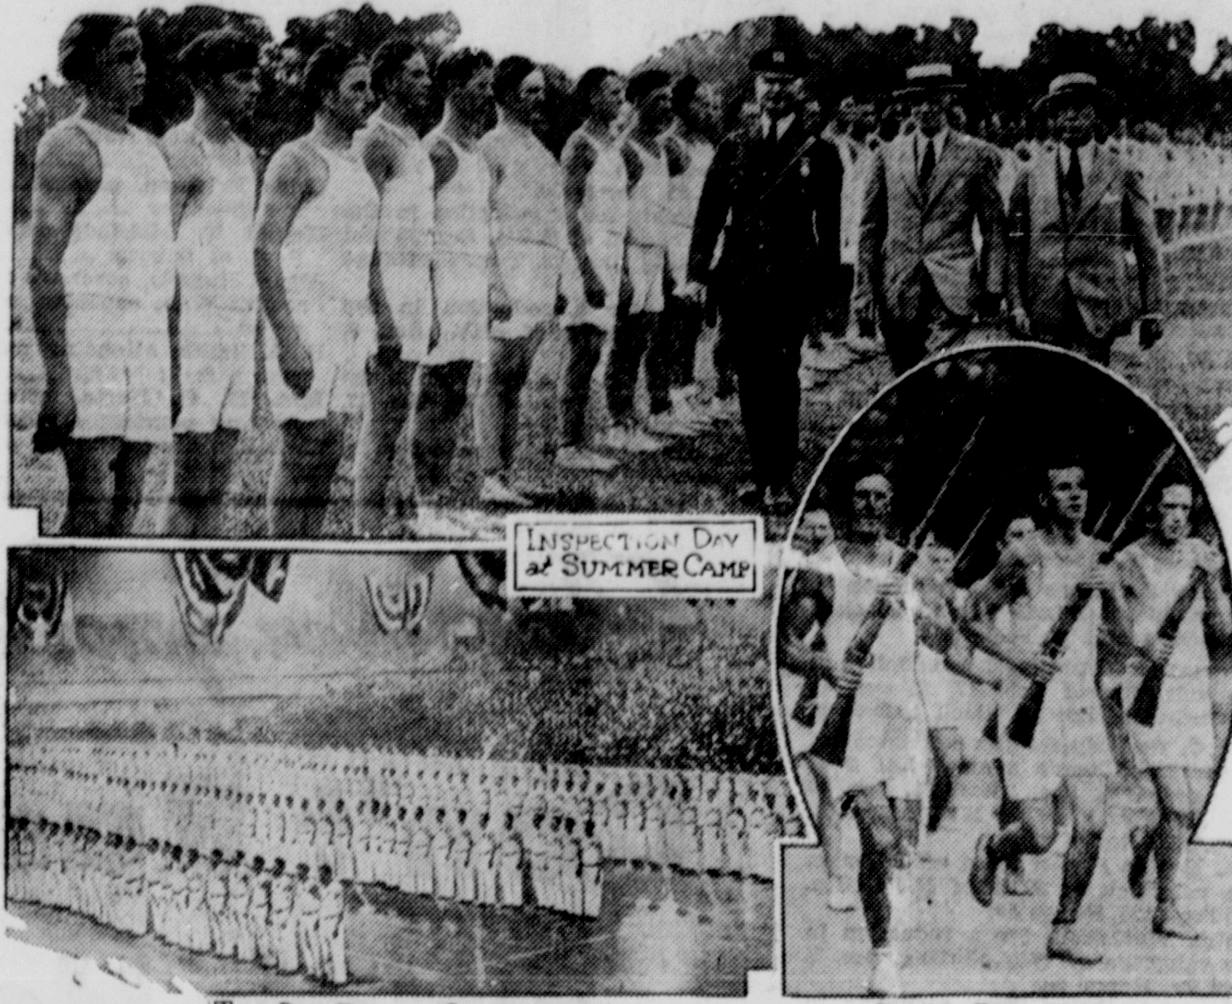

Governor Floyd B. Olson invited the Knights Templar to visit some of the state's 10,000 lakes. The governor also suggested the delegates to remain longer than the convention week to get acquainted with the lake country and other beauties of the state.

N. Y. Police School to Graduate 300 for Its Own Commencement

Gotham Police Recruits, After Six Months of Intensive Training, Are Ready to Step Into Traditional Blue to Defend the Public From the Scourge of Criminal Activity

THE BIG DAY - GRADUATION

RIOT PRACTICE

There's many a new-born college graduate entering the proverbially frigid world at this season of the year, but 300 stalwart youths are soon to graduate from one of the most unusual schools in the world and there's no ordinary job awaiting them. From "rookie" cops intensively trained for six months in all the arts of safeguarding the public from the scourge of crime, these gallant 300 will soon join the ranks of the "finest" as worthy successors to the bluecoats of the New York Police Department, who have gone before them. Upper picture shows the "Big Chief," Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney (center) reviewing his future "Boys in Blue" with Acting Deputy Chief Inspector John J. Noonan (left), commander of the Recruits' Training School, and Chief Inspector John J. O'Brien (right).

Hubby Chased?

Mrs. Peter Arno (above), prominent in New York literary life under the name of Lois "Lipstick" Long, has the unique distinction of having a husband, Peter Arno, fashioner of ultra-sophisticated cartoons, who is alleged to have been chased by Cornelius Vanderbilt and his empty pistol in a Reno melodrama, which has ended with Vanderbilt suing his wife for divorce. Peter is accused by Cornelius of paying attention to Mrs. Vanderbilt. If Vanderbilt's suit is filed, a divorce which Arno is seeking may be delayed indefinitely, authorities say.

Congrats, Mama!

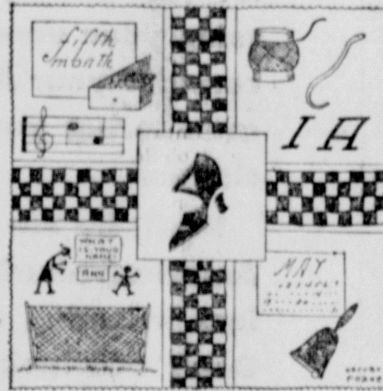

In this case it's a proud daughter congratulating her mother at a graduation exercise—instead of the commonplace other way 'round. The two-year-old congratulating her mother is just as proud as any girl her age could be that Mama, Mrs. Warren B. Meixner, an honor student, has won her Bachelor of Science degree at Temple University, Philadelphia.

Girls' Names Puzzle

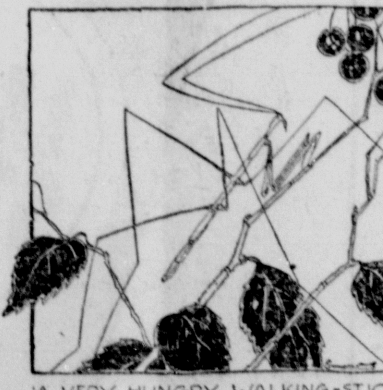

Here are the names of five girls. What are they?

Creatures Queer

The Walking Stick.

Up in dusty corners of old barns and attics you will find what appear to be abandoned spider webs. But let a luckless bee or fly entangle itself in the silky meshes and in a moment you will see the queerest creature stepping lightly, but oh! so slowly and carefully, over the web and making straight for the unfortunate prisoner. "No spider, this!" you say. Indeed, no spider ever boasted so slim and straw-like a waist or enjoyed such repose and deliberation. This new tenant of the old web belongs to a family of Walking-Sticks or Thread-Legged-Bugs, and if you have ever seen one you will agree that the name exactly suits him.

His body resembles a small stick or twig both in shape and color, a likeness that helps conceal him from his enemies. He has three legs on either side, the foremost pair being like arms bent at the elbow with the hands doubled back under at the wrists. Between these claws, which are pincer-like and provided with sharp spikes, Mr. Walking-Stick grabs his prey, taking care to keep it far enough away from his body to avoid any poisonous stings. Then through his hollow neck

Large and Small Campuses

College campuses vary greatly in size. Some urban colleges have practically no campuses. Campuses are maintained by land-grant colleges in considerable. The largest is that of Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College, totaling 2,000 acres and next largest is that of the University of Florida with 671 acres. Others vary from 60 acres to 100 acres. The University of New Hampshire has 10,000 acres and the University of Illinois ing tube he drinks the food juices of his victim.

His other four legs are extremely slender and truly thread-like. They are unbelievably long—the artist couldn't get them all into the picture!—and quite easily broken, but that only bothers him for a little while until he can grow others in their place.

In the picture the artist has drawn Mr. Walking-Stick out-of-doors. Just as long as he remains quiet you can see how difficult it is to tell him from the twig on which he rests. The habit he has of sticking his legs out at all conceivable angles helps him, too, to disappear and makes it nearly impossible for his enemies to find him.

Early in the morning
Sleepy is the sun,
Drowsily he seems to rise
When the night is done.

Sleepy too the buildings
Leaning close together,
It is harder still to wake
When there's cloudy weather.

The Guess-Me

I am sometimes long and sometimes short.

I am separated into different parts. I think my head is very grand. It has smoke stacks on it, two open windows, and inside, a good deal of machinery.

I have eyes on both sides of me in long rows, but they are different from most eyes, they do not see. They are seen through.

I travel very, very fast. At night I seem to shoot flame from my chimneys and my eyes have lights behind them.

I do not go where I wish, but am driven, that is, some one steers me. I carry many, many people inside of me and children, particularly, like to ride in me.

I have a whistle on my head, too, which I blow every once in a while in dangerous places. I cannot go unless I am fed plenty of coal.

Has he given himself away? If you can guess who he really is draw a picture of him on a piece of paper to keep.

Buenos Aires, June 23.—(U.P.)—Radio announcers went on strike for 5 minutes last night.

Broadcasting was cut off without warning from all Buenos Aires stations. Announcers then continued the program by announcing that they had struck in protest against a local campaign for suppression, or limitation, of radio advertising.

Listeners were warned that unless the public supported the announcers they might make the silence perpetual.

RADIO ANNOUNCERS OF BUENOS AIRES STRIKE FOR 5 MINUTES

Buenos Aires, June 23.—(U.P.)—Radio announcers went on strike for 5 minutes last night.

Broadcasting was cut off without warning from all Buenos Aires stations. Announcers then continued the program by announcing that they had struck in protest against a local campaign for suppression, or limitation, of radio advertising.

Listeners were warned that unless the public supported the announcers they might make the silence perpetual.

ST. LOUIS BROWNS IN DEATH KNELL TO YANKEE FLAG HOPES

GOLFERS STAGE OPEN REVOLT OVER 'BALLOON' BALL

BROWNS OF TODAY NOT OF VINTAGE OF 1927 OR 1930

BROWNS GIVE YANKEES LACING OF 14 TO 10 IN GAME

5 YANKEE HURLERS INEFFECTIVE, BROWNS COLLECT 20 HITS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 23.—The St. Louis Browns, who back in 1927 won their way into sports page headlines whenever they held the Yankees to a close score, have about sounded the death knell to New York's 1931 American League pennant hopes.

Of course, the championship aspirations of Joe McCarthy's club haven't been taken seriously by anyone except members of the team since the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators began climbing out in front a month ago. But when the Yankees started on their current western invasion they hoped to start a winning streak that would place them within striking distance of the Athletics and Senators.

To start the road trip they expected to take five straight from the St. Louis Browns. For after all, the Browns have been the Yankees' first cousins for years on end. In 1927, for instance, New York won 21 games and lost one to the Browns. Even last year the Yankees won 16 contests while dropping six.

But the Browns of today, although at the bottom of the American League standings, aren't the Browns of 1927 or 1930. And the Yankees were well aware of that as they rolled into Chicago today, after taking three consecutive trimmings from the Browns.

The Browns sent the Yankees away with a 14 to 10 lacing. Five Yankee hurlers were ineffective and the Browns collected 20 hits. The Yankees rapped out 15 blows, including Gehrig's fifteenth and sixteenth homers, but after knocking three pitchers from the box they were stopped by Kimsey.

The defeat cost New York an opportunity to gain lost ground, for the Athletics dropped an 8 to 2 verdict to Chicago. Connie Mack attempted to get by with his second string hurlers, but the White Sox polished off Shores in the fifth inning and continued their assault on Mahaffey while Frasier, a rookie, was scattering the six hits he allowed the Athletics. The defeat cost the Athletics a half game of their leadership for the Washington club, now three and one-half games behind Philadelphia, was idle because of rain at Cleveland.

Boston defeated Detroit, 7 to 2, in the other American League encounter. MacFayden was effective in the pinches while the Red Sox hammered Bridges almost at will.

The St. Louis Cardinals met their fourth defeat in the seven games played thus far on their current eastern invasion, dropping a 7 to 3 decision to Philadelphia.

Big Jim Elliott hurled good ball except in the sixth inning when the Cardinals scored all of their runs. Chuck Klein's eighteenth home run of the season was one of the 13 hits the Phillies got off Sylvester Johnson.

The defeat did not cost the Cardinals any of their two and one-half game leadership margin in the National League, however, for the second place New York Giants were pounded into submission by Chicago, 11 to 4. Home runs by Wilson, Hemsley and Hornsby featured the Cubs' attack on three Giant hurlers as Guy Bush coasted to victory.

Babe Herman and William Watson Clark combined their talents to give Brooklyn a 3 to 2 ten-inning victory over Pittsburgh. Clark allowed nine scattered hits while Herman batted in two of the runs and scored the other himself.

Cincinnati and Boston in the National League were not scheduled.

MATE BEING SHIPPED TO BELMONT TRACK

Chicago, June 23.—(U.P.)—Mate, winner of the American derby last Saturday, is being shipped to Belmont race track, but will be returned to Chicago for the Arlington classic.

A. C. Bostwick, millionaire owner of the colt, traveled to New York yesterday on the same train that took Mate.

He expressed confidence that his horse would beat Twenty Grand in the Arlington classic. Mate will take it easy around Belmont for a week or 10 days.

STIRBLING TRAINS TOO HARD FOR BOUT

TO HAVE FINAL WORKOUT SUNDAY; MEETS SCHMELING ON JULY 3

Centaga Lake, O., June 23.—(U.P.)—Willie Stribling has overtrained for his bout with Champion Max Schmeling July 3. "Pa" Stribling, the challenger's father-manager, said today.

The elder Stribling said his son was keyed up for the fight now, and would workout against sparring mates only four more times before entering the ring with the German. He will appear in his final training bout Sunday, "Pa" said.

The southerner and his father and mother will broadcast over the NBC network tomorrow night at 7:30. Stribling will tell something of the training grind, and his parents will talk about their boy.

Connaut Lake Park, Pa., June 23.—Stolid Max Schmeling, the heavyweight champion of the world, has timed his training as well as he times his punches, according to Joe Jacobs, the German's loud-speaker.

"No, Max is not ready yet," Jacobs said. "He will not be ready for Stribling until the night of July 3. He'll be all set for the challenger then, but not before."

The German has been invited to address "his public" over the NBC network this week.

DEMAND NEW BALL, HEADQUARTERS MAY ACCEPT PROPOSALS

HOPE TO DEVISE A NEW BALL THAT HAS FEATURES OF OLD AND PRESENT ONE

BOBBY JONES ENGAGED TO TRY OUT NEW BALLS; INTRODUCE NEW BALL IN 1932

By DIXON STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 23.—Opposition to the new "balloon" ball, which the United States Golf Association forced upon American golfers, has reached a stage of open revolt, and a further change in the ball before the opening of the 1932 season virtually is assured.

Although no official announcement is forthcoming from U. S. G. A. headquarters—other than the statement that a survey is being made as to the effects of the new ball and that results of the survey will be made public when completed—it is rumored that the association has decided upon an entirely new ball.

The official announcement probably will be made shortly after the 1931 National Amateur tourney and is expected to sound the death knell for the generally despised balloon ball. The new ball, it is said, will be as large as the present unpopular spheroid, as heavy as the discarded ball of 1931, and will combine the best features of each.

Balls of various sizes, makes and weights are being tested by the U. S. G. A. and Bobby Jones has been engaged to try out new balls for a nationally known sporting goods firm. These activities indicate that the association realizes that it over-reached itself in setting up the balloon ball as the standard for 1931, and now plans to make amends.

Manufacturers and sellers of golfing equipment are the only persons who have welcomed the new ball and this group, naturally enough, will welcome a further change. The balloon ball made it necessary for players to buy new clubs to get maximum results and the sale of golf clubs this season advanced from 25 to 33 per cent over last year.

If another new ball is introduced in 1932, golfers again will be advised that their present clubs were not designed for the new ball and sporting goods manufacturers have been warned that a change is in prospect and have curtailed production of the balloon ball and current models of clubs.

PRIMO CARNERA FAILS TO APPEAR IN EXHIBITION BOUTS

Boston, June 23.—(U.P.)—Failure of Primo Carnera, giant Italian heavyweight, to appear in scheduled exhibition bouts here last night was investigated by Massachusetts boxing authorities today.

Leon See, is manager, reported from New York that he had received three telegrams, signed by Promoter Eddie Mack, Boxing Commissioner Eugene Buckley, and a Boston newspaperman, explaining that an injunction had been granted against Carnera appearing in Boston and that the show had been postponed.

Promoter Mack said the telegrams were spurious and charged they were part of a plot to wreck his show. Commissioner Buckley announced he would investigate.

COLONELS LEADING OVER THE SAINTS

HAVE A GAME AND HALF TO THE GOOD OVER ST. PAUL IN PENNANT RACE

(By United Press)

Louisville, champions of the American Association last year, held a game and a half lead over St. Paul today. The Louisville club, bunching its hits for timely rallies, defeated Milwaukee, 5 to 2, yesterday. St. Paul lost a slugfest to Columbus, 19 to 7. Four St. Paul pitchers were unable to halt Columbus' batting spree and had 19 hits scored against them.

Minneapolis, in third place in the league standings, remained in the pennant race, defeating Toledo, 6 to 4. The Kansas City nine, in last place, forced Indianapolis to go 10 innings before losing, 4 to 3. Kansas City made 12 hits, two more than did the victors, but could not bunch them for scores.

Games today: Kansas City at Indianapolis, Milwaukee at Louisville, St. Paul at Columbus, Minneapolis at Toledo.

Rookie Revelations

By HARDIN BURNLEY

SURELY there must have been worlds of class to the Oakland team of the Pacific Coast League last season for three of its notable stars are blazing in National League heavens this year. That trio of former "Oaks" are "Buzz" Arlett, big gun of the Phillies; Ernest Lombardi, clouting catcher of the Robins; and Johnny Vergez, Giant gem at third base. Perhaps the "Oaks" don't miss that stellar trinity this season!

The wonder about Arlett, who's 32, is how a major league team did not acquire him for so many years. He's been watched but the scout reports until 1930 were that he was a bit too slow for the big show. But "Buzz" hasn't been slow in the Philly outfield and with the willow he's a genuine wonder.

Arlett's record with Oakland indicates his hitting prowess. For eight seasons, starting with 1923, "Buzz" batted never less than .325. Of Ruthian proportions and rugged, it's just too bad "Buzz" didn't get his crack at the big time five or six years ago. As it is, Arlett stands a good chance of being the leading batsman in the majors this year unless he slumps badly.

Vergez, who cost John McGraw & Co., $50,000, is proving that he's worth at least double that price. Off to a somewhat shaky start in training camp games, Johnny soon found himself and justified McGraw's wisdom in transferring Freddie Lindstrom from third to the outfield in order to make room for the "Oak" recruit.

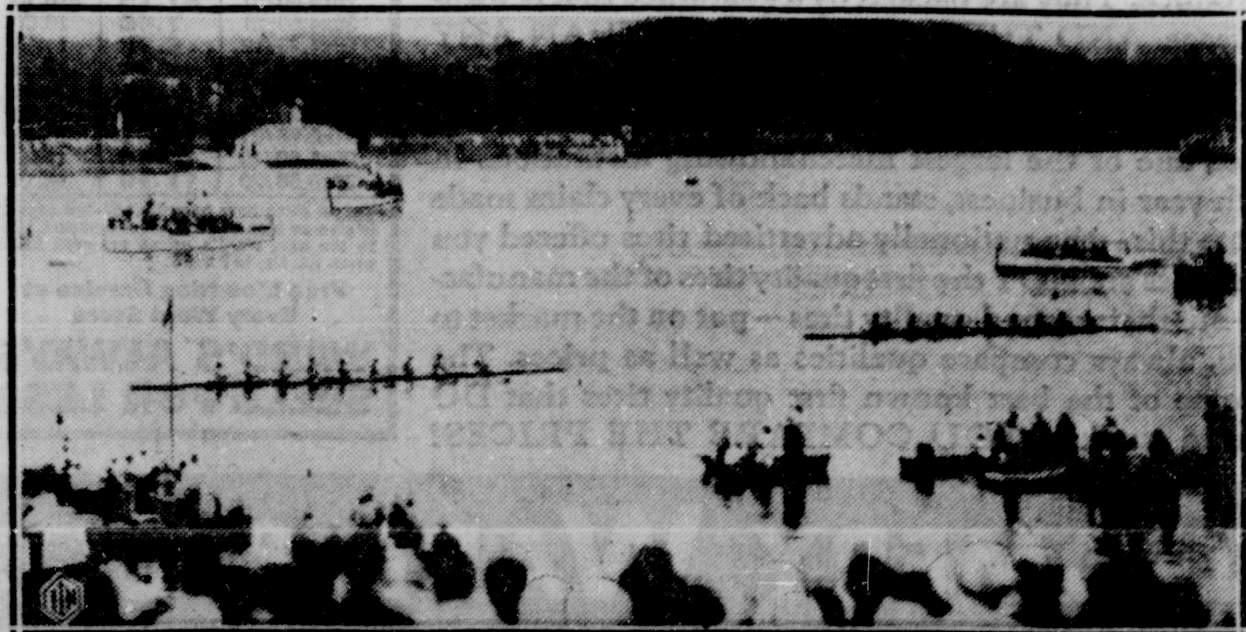

"Bucky" Lombardi is shining brightly for Brooklyn even in the gloom which prevailed when the song of the Robins sounded like a dirge throughout May.

Incidentally, the St. Louis Cards seem to have a pitching ace in Paul Derringer who won his first eight games in his debut as a big leaguer. He's 24, may get his bumps soon, but seems to have what goes to make a truly great moundman.

Arlett, Lombardi, Vergez and Derringer—1931 rookie revelations indeed!!!!

Louisville, champions of the American Association last year, held a game and a half lead over St. Paul today. The Louisville club, bunching its hits for timely rallies, defeated Milwaukee, 5 to 2, yesterday. St. Paul lost a slugfest to Columbus, 19 to 7. Four St. Paul pitchers were unable to halt Columbus' batting spree and had 19 hits scored against them.

Minneapolis, in third place in the league standings, remained in the pennant race, defeating Toledo, 6 to 4. The Kansas City nine, in last place, forced Indianapolis to go 10 innings before losing, 4 to 3. Kansas City made 12 hits, two more than did the victors, but could not bunch them for scores.

Games today: Kansas City at Indianapolis, Milwaukee at Louisville, St. Paul at Columbus, Minneapolis at Toledo.

MATE BEING SHIPPED TO BELMONT TRACK

Chicago, June 23.—(U.P.)—Mate, winner of the American derby last Saturday, is being shipped to Belmont race track, but will be returned to Chicago for the Arlington classic.

A. C. Postwick, millionaire owner of the colt, traveled to New York yesterday on the same train that took Mate.

He expressed confidence that his horse would beat Twenty Grand in the Arlington classic. Mate will take it easy around Belmont for a week or 10 days.

STIRBLING TRAINS TOO HARD FOR BOUT

TO HAVE FINAL WORKOUT SUNDAY; MEETS SCHMELING ON JULY 3

Centaga Lake, O., June 23.—(U.P.)—Willie Stribling has overtrained for his bout with Champion Max Schmeling July 3, "Pa" Stribling, the challenger's father-manager, said today.

The elder Stribling said his son was keyed up for the fight now, and would workout against sparring mates only four more times before entering the ring with the German. He will appear in his final training bout Sunday, "Pa" said.

The southerner and his father and mother will broadcast over the NBC network tomorrow night at 7:30. Stribling will tell something of the training grind, and his parents will talk about their boy.

Conneaut Lake Park, Pa., June 23.—Stolid Max Schmeling, the heavyweight champion of the world, has timed his training as well as he times his punches, according to Joe Jacobs, the German's loud-speaker.

"No, Max is not ready yet," Jacobs said. "He will not be ready for Stribling until the night of July 3. He'll be all set for the challenger then, but not before."

The German has been invited to address "his public" over the NBC network this week.

RAIN POSTPONES MANDELL-MEYERS BOXING MATCH

Janesville, Wis., June 23.—(U.P.)—Rain last night again caused postponement of the scheduled boxing match here between Sammy Mandell, Rockford, and Spug Meyers, Pocatello, Idaho. The bout was originally scheduled for June 15 but was put off a week on account of showers. Promoters did not indicate last night when the bout will now be held.

Napoleon's Elevation

Napoleon Bonaparte was crowned after the French revolution. The revolution ended with the overthrow of the directory on November 9, 1799, and five years later Napoleon was offered the title of emperor by the French senate, and on December 2, 1804, he was crowned Napoleon I, at Paris.

Odor Theory

Odor is the volatile portion of a substance perceptible by the sense of smell. The odor theory assumes that the odor sensation is due to the combination of chemical radicals, called osmophilic groups of the odoriferous substances that combine with certain substances of the nasal membrane, called osmoceptors.

Rookie Revelations

By HARDIN BURNLEY

SURELY there must have been worlds of class to the Oakland team of the Pacific Coast League last season for three of its notable stars are blazing in National League heavens this year. That trio of former "Oaks" are "Buzz" Arlett, big gun of the Phillies; Ernest Lombardi, clouting catcher of the Robins; and Johnny Vergez, Giant gem at third base. Perhaps the "Oaks" don't miss that stellar trinity this season!

The wonder about Arlett, who's 32, is how a major league team did not acquire him for so many years. He's been watched but the scout reports until 1930 were that he was a bit too slow for the big show. But "Buzz" hasn't been slow in the Philly outfield and with the willow he's a genuine wonder. Arlett's record with Oakland indicates his hitting prowess. For eight seasons, starting with 1923, "Buzz" batted never less than .328. Of Ruthian proportions and rugged, it's just too bad "Buzz" didn't get his crack at the big time five or six years ago. As it is, Arlett stands a good chance of being the leading batsman in the majors this year unless he slumps badly.

Vergez, who cost John McGraw & Co., $50,000, is proving that he's worth at least double that price. Off to a somewhat shaky start in training camp games, Johnny soon found himself and justified McGraw's wisdom in transferring Freddie Lindstrom from third to the outfield in order to make room for the "Oak" recruit.

"Bucky" Lombardi is shining brightly for Brooklyn even in the gloom which prevailed when the song of the Robins sounded like a dirge throughout May.

Incidentally, the St. Louis Cards seem to have a pitching ace in Paul Derringer who won his first eight games in his debut as a big leaguer. He's 24, may get his bumps soon, but seems to have what goes to make a truly great moundman.

Arlett, Lombardi, Vergez and Derringer—1931 rookie revelations indeed!!!!

When Crimson Avenged Many Defeats

A new era for Harvard University dawned on the Thames at New London, Conn., when the Crimson victory crew avenged the defeats handed them every year since 1908 by the sons of Eli and rowed to victory over the Yale oarsmen. This picture shows the Harvard crew (left) sliding across the finish line with Yale trying to overtake its conquerors. The victory for Harvard closed an undefeated season for the Crimson, but the vanquishing of its ancient rivals was the sweetest win of all.

Find Tomb Richer Than That of Tut-Ankh-Amen

What may prove to be the most important Egyptian tomb yet discovered is that of Ita Ouer, who lived nearly five thousand years ago. He was high priest of Egypt, but he seems also to have held a bewildering number of high offices. The tomb consists of two chambers. One of these contains the sarcophagus of a queen whose name has not yet been found. The mummy, though, has a wonderful gold crown flashing with jewels.

The second chamber is, perhaps, the more interesting owing to the objects it contains. The Egyptians believed that the soul of a dead person passed to a land where it would need all the things that had been necessary in life. For this reason they often placed in their tombs not only food, but clothing, boats, carriages, chairs, beds, weapons, and a complete outfit of household utensils. Thanks to this custom we know more about the Egyptians than about any other ancient people.

Owing to his many state offices, the articles placed in Ita Ouer's tomb are of astonishing variety. Professor Hassan believes that, when all have been examined, the find will prove of greater importance than the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen.

Dreaded Penal Station Made Into Bird Haven

The Dry Tortugas are a series of islets, ten in number, at the extreme end of Florida keys, belonging to Monroe county. They are low, barren and desolate, except where partly covered with mangrove bushes. Fort Jefferson on Garden key was used as a penal station during the Civil war, and it was here where Doctor Mudd, O'Laughlin, Spangler and Arnold were sent to serve out their terms of imprisonment after being found guilty by a military commission of participation in the assassination of President Lincoln. All of them were pardoned by President Johnson, except O'Laughlin, who died there.

In 1904 a marine biological laboratory was established on Loggerhead key, one of the islands, at which much important scientific work has been done. In 1908 the United States government set aside the entire group as a federal bird reservation.

Is It the Unicorn?

Lord Belhaven and Stenton has recently suggested that the unicorn of the Bible may be really the Arabian oryx, or wathahl, says London Answers.

One oryx, a present from Ibn Saud to the king, was at one time in the zoo. Her favorite delicacy was cigarettes, which she ate with great gusto.

Some Biblical commentators consider that the unicorn, or reem, of the Scriptures, was the animal known as the rumbu by the Assyrians, a wild ox of great size, strength and ferocity, very like the extinct aurochs. But neither the oryx nor the aurochs was a unicorn proper, for both had double horns.

This does not rule out either as the Biblical unicorn, however, for the Revised Version reading of "unicorn" is always "wild ox."

Origin of Ice Hockey

The fantastic explanation has been advanced that the Canadian Indians originated the game of ice hockey by taking la crosse (called baggataway by the aborigines) and making it applicable to play on skates. In contradiction, the French-Canadians maintain that their ancestors were the inventors. Still other factions claim that ice hockey was a "steal" either from "bandy," a somewhat similar sport that originated in England, or "hurley," the Irish winter pastime. The now proved facts are that ice hockey was created merely by taking field hockey and playing it on ice. The first game ever played was in Montreal in December, 1879. The first hockey rules were drawn up on September 17, 1879, by R. F. Smith of Montreal.

Dividing Child's Day

According to the White House conference about six hours should be given to school work, and a child twelve years of age should have eleven hours' sleep. The dividing of the remaining hours of the day would depend on the individual case.

Religion of a Farmer

There is more work in this universe than atoms and electrons; intelligence, purposefulness, good will are at the heart of the universe.—Country Home.

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

We know that human beings have different temperaments. Some are extremely sensitive to one thing, some to another. There are those who enjoy a joke on others, but can't stand a joke at their own expense. But almost every one has some individual point of irritation. In the old days, before he had added the dignity of a club owner to the job of manager, John McGraw used to seek this point among umpires and opposing players. Usually he found it. There was an umpire whose wife had publicly belabored him with an umbrella. That was the one thing the umpire thought of in the middle of many a night, and squirmed. The first time McGraw had an argument with that umpire, he produced an umbrella from somewhere on the bench and the arbitrator blew up like a powder magazine. A trombone was the dark spot in a pitcher's life. Opposing players just about drove him off the mound by going through the motions of playing that instrument.

We call persons thick-skinned, or thin-skinned, but it was not until I talked with a specialist that I found out that skins really are as temperamental as their owners. Different skins are sensitive to various specific things. The most common examples of this are poison ivy, oak, sumac and primrose. Some skins are not affected by any of those things; some by perhaps one of them; some by all. When a patient goes to a dermatologist with some form of inflammation of the skin, the doctor frequently has a hard time finding out just what the cause may be, because it may be almost anything.

There was one case of a man who had a rash on his hands every Monday. Doctors finally discovered that his skin was sensitive to something in the rotogravure section of Sunday papers. That was a new one, even for the specialists. Some skins are sensitive to dyes; some to certain forms of wall paper; some to an ingredient used in cold cream, soothing to most skins. There are records of children with hands sensitive to such ordinary things as woolen mittens.

While it is not in the line of dermatology, doctors have found that such things as asthma and hay fever are caused by specific irritations. Many hay fever sufferers cannot stand goldenrod. I knew a man who had asthma every time he drove behind a horse. He was sensitive to the dust in a horse's coat. Doctors will tell you of a woman who had an attack of asthma every Thursday. They found that was her baking day and that she was sensitive to the ingredients of rye bread. The human body is a complicated mechanism.

Speaking of poison sumac makes me think of that story attributed to Rudyard Kipling, perhaps attributed to many others, for it is old. Anyhow, it relates that some one said that "sumac" and "sugar" were the only two words in the English language which were spelled "su" and pronounced "shu." Mr. Kipling is supposed to have replied merely: "Are you sure?"

I heard a story the other day of a man who traveled all over the world and made a wonderful collection of objects of art. Like many others, he lost his money through bad investments. When he died and executors entered the apartment where he had lived alone, they found little except a bed, a chair and a table covered with skeletons, such as are used in offices. Each spindle was packed from point to base with pawn tickets.

When I reached Biloxi on a warm lazy day, I wrote glowingly of its Mississippi weather. The next day it rained. The weather prediction for the following day was: "Cold wave. Freezing." I saw an article recently bemoaning the fact that, in these times of automobiles, the boys of the country no longer knew the joy of the old horse and cutter. They should come South.

Blacksmith Optimistic; Finds Plenty of Work

Walnut Ridge, Ark.—The reason J. L. (Uncle Jake) Caspar, seventy, for 50 years a blacksmith and the oldest of his trade in eastern Arkansas, keeps his tools in readiness and his shop open is because "as long as those hills last there will be horses to be shod and plows and harrows to fix." Caspar, however, has bowed to the advance of the mechanical age by installing two gasoline pumps at his shop.

Civil Aircraft Carried 2,715,846 in 1930

Washington.—Civil aircraft in the United States carried 2,715,846 passengers in 1930. A Commerce department analysis of air travel said 2,298,341 passengers rode in aircraft engaged in miscellaneous flying operations and 417,505 were passengers in scheduled flying operations. Miscellaneous flights aggregated 56,502,560 miles in 1930 of which 8,547,600 were flown by uncensored craft. The department did not issue accident statistics.

MR. PRALL, Manager of Tire Dept. and DR. HARVEY, Laboratory Chief, examining (in Ward's technical laboratory) Riverside tire sent in by MR. RALSTON.

86,000 MILES

Here's an endurance record that speaks for RIVERSIDE Quality. The tire shown above was sent us by Mr. J. H. Ralston of Delano, California, as an expression of his satisfaction with RIVERSIDE service. Over all kinds of roads, and in all kinds of weather, this sturdy RIVERSIDE clicked off mileage. Twenty thousand, fifty thousand, seventy-five thousand miles—and still going strong! And at last, after his RIVERSIDE Cord had covered better than 86,000 miles, Mr. Ralston sent it back to Ward's as an example of RIVERSIDE endurance.

WARD'S RIVERSIDES are Turning in Amazing Mileage Records All Over America! 42,000, 68,000, 86,000 MILES!

AFTER all, you buy a tire for just one thing—and that's MILEAGE. And you do get A MILEAGE when you buy a Riverside. Note the tire above that covered 86,000 miles. And Mr. C. A. Puarica of Portland, Ore., writes us about four Riversides that have covered 42,000 miles and are still in use. Mr. R. H. Easter of Elma, Washington, reports a Riverside in use every day on a school bus covered 68,000 miles. These three examples are but typical of the scores of letters and reports we are constantly receiving on Riverside performance. These three testimonials came to us unsolicited—they were not bought at a price!

No wonder jealous tire makers and dealers are becoming alarmed over the tremendous swing of tire buyers to Riversides. The most unfair and bitter tactics ever known in the tire industry are being used today to fight Ward's Riversides. Advertising has appeared all over the country in which mail order tires are referred to as "mongrels." Unfair comparison charts are being published and displayed by competitors. Second line tires are being offered under nationally known tire names at the same prices as first quality Riversides—BUT THEY CAN'T BEAT RIVERSIDE PERFORMANCE, AND THAT'S WHAT COUNTS, and that's what the customer wants.

We'll Match Riversides ... on the Road ... Against ANY Tire Made and We'll Beat it in Price!

Riverside tires are one of the best known in America. They have been sold for 19 years. They are made by one of the largest tire companies in the world. They are built to the most rigid specifications known. They are the finest quality it is possible to produce. They are backed by a guarantee that is without limit as to time or mileage. AND THEY SELL FOR LESS THAN ANY FIRST QUALITY NATIONALLY ADVERTISED TIRE ON THE MARKET! These sound like sensational claims. But they're FACTS. Montgomery Ward & Co., one of the largest merchandising institutions in the world, now in its 59th year in business, stands back of every claim made in its advertisements. Note this—the nationally advertised tires offered you at the same prices as Riversides are NOT the first quality tires of the manufacturers who make them—but their second quality tires—put on the market to meet Riverside prices. So, always compare qualities as well as prices. The table at the right lists some of the best known first quality tires that DO compare with Riversides in quality—YOU COMPARE THE PRICES!

LIGHTS of NEW YORK

We know that human beings have different temperaments. Some are extremely sensitive to one thing, some to another. There are those who enjoy a joke on others, but can't stand a joke at their own expense. But almost every one has some individual point of irritation. In the old days, before he had added the dignity of a club owner to the job of manager, John McGraw used to seek this point among umpires and opposing players. Usually he found it. There was an umpire whose wife had publicly belabored him with an umbrella. That was the one thing the umpire thought of in the middle of many a night, and squirmed. The first time McGraw had an argument with that umpire, he produced an umbrella from somewhere on the bench and the arbitrator blew up like a powder magazine. A trombone was the dark spot in a pitcher's life. Opposing players just about drove him off the mound by going through the motions of playing that instrument.

We call persons thick-skinned, or thin-skinned, but it was not until I talked with a specialist that I found out that skins really are as temperamental as their owners. Different skins are sensitive to various specific things. The most common examples of this are poison ivy, oak, sumac and primrose. Some skins are not affected by any of those things; some by perhaps one of them; some by all. When a patient goes to a dermatologist with some form of inflammation of the skin, the doctor frequently has a hard time finding out just what the cause may be, because it may be almost anything.

There was one case of a man who had a rash on his hands every Monday. Doctors finally discovered that his skin was sensitive to something in the rotogravure section of Sunday papers. That was a new one, even for the specialists. Some skins are sensitive to dyes; some to certain forms of wall paper; some to an ingredient used in cold cream, soothing to most skins. There are records of children with hands sensitive to such ordinary things as woolen mittens.

While it is not in the line of dermatology, doctors have found that such things as asthma and hay fever are caused by specific irritations. Many hay fever sufferers cannot stand goldenrod. I knew a man who had asthma every time he drove behind a horse. He was sensitive to the dust in a horse's coat. Doctors will tell you of a woman who had an attack of asthma every Thursday. They found that was her baking day and that she was sensitive to the ingredients of rye bread. The human body is a complicated mechanism.

Speaking of poison sumac makes me think of that story attributed to Rudyard Kipling, perhaps attributed to many others, for it is old. Anyhow, it relates that some one said that "sumac" and "sugar" were the only two words in the English language which were spelled "su" and pronounced "shu." Mr. Kipling is supposed to have replied merely: "Are you sure?"

I heard a story the other day of a man who traveled all over the world and made a wonderful collection of objects of art. Like many others, he lost his money through bad investments. When he died and executors entered the apartment where he had lived alone, they found little except a bed, a chair and a table covered with scribbles, such as are used in offices. Each scribble was packed from point to base with pawn tickets.

When I reached Biloxi on a warm lazy day, I wrote glowingly of its Mississippi weather. The next day it rained. The weather prediction for the following day was: "Cold wave. Freezing." I saw an article recently bemoaning the fact that, in these times of automobiles, the boys of the country no longer knew the joy of the old horse and cutter. They should come South.

Blacksmith Optimistic; Finds Plenty of Work

Walnut Ridge, Ark.—The reason J. L. (Uncle Jake) Caspar, seventy, for 50 years a blacksmith and the oldest of his trade in eastern Arkansas, keeps his tools in readiness and his shop open is because "as long as those hills last there will be horses to be shod and plows and harrows to fix." Caspar, however, has bowed to the advance of the mechanical age by installing two gasoline pumps at his shop.

Civil Aircraft Carried 2,715,846 in 1930

Washington.—Civil aircraft in the United States carried 2,715,846 passengers in 1930. A Commerce department analysis of air travel said 2,298,341 passengers rode in aircraft engaged in miscellaneous flying operations and 417,505 were passengers in scheduled flying operations. Miscellaneous flights aggregated 58,502,500 miles in 1930 of which 8,547,000 were flown by unlicensed craft. The department did not issue accident statistics.

Find Tomb Richer Than

That of Tut-Ankh-Amen

What may prove to be the most important Egyptian tomb yet discovered is that of Ita Ouer, who lived nearly five thousand years ago. He was high priest of Egypt, but he seems also to have held a bewildering number of high offices. The tomb consists of two chambers. One of these contains the sarcophagus of a queen whose name has not yet been found. The mummy, though, has a wonderful gold crown flashing with jewels.

The second chamber is, perhaps, the more interesting owing to the objects it contains. The Egyptians believed that the soul of a dead person passed to a land where it would need all the things that had been necessary in life. For this reason they often placed in their tombs not only food, but clothing, boats, carriages, chairs, beds, weapons, and a complete outfit of household utensils. Thanks to this custom we know more about the Egyptians than about any other ancient people.

Owing to his many state offices, the articles placed in Ita Ouer's tomb are of astonishing variety. Professor Hassan believes that, when all have been examined, the find will prove of greater importance than the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen.

Dreaded Penal Station

Made Into Bird Haven

The Dry Tortugas are a series of islets, ten in number, at the extreme end of Florida keys, belonging to Monroe county. They are low, barren and desolate, except where partly covered with mangrove bushes. Fort Jefferson on Garden key was used as a penal station during the Civil war, and it was here where Doctor Mudd, O'Laughlin, Spangler and Arnold were sent to serve out their terms of imprisonment after being found guilty by a military commission of participation in the assassination of President Lincoln. All of them were pardoned by President Johnson, except O'Laughlin, who died there.

In 1904 a marine biological laboratory was established on Loggerhead key, one of the islands, at which much important scientific work has been done. In 1908 the United States government set aside the entire group as a federal bird reservation.

Is It the Unicorn?

Lord Belhaven and Stenton has recently suggested that the unicorn of the Bible may be really the Arabian oryx, or wathahl, says London Answers.

One oryx, a present from Ibn Saud to the king, was at one time in the zoo. Her favorite delicacy was cigarettes, which she ate with great gusto. Some Biblical commentators consider that the unicorn, or reem, of the Scriptures, was the animal known as the rumbu by the Assyrians, a wild ox of great size, strength and ferocity, very like the extinct aurochs. But neither the oryx nor the aurochs was a unicorn proper, for both had double horns.

This does not rule out either as the Biblical unicorn, however, for the Revised Version reading of "unicorn" is always "wild ox."

Origin of Ice Hockey

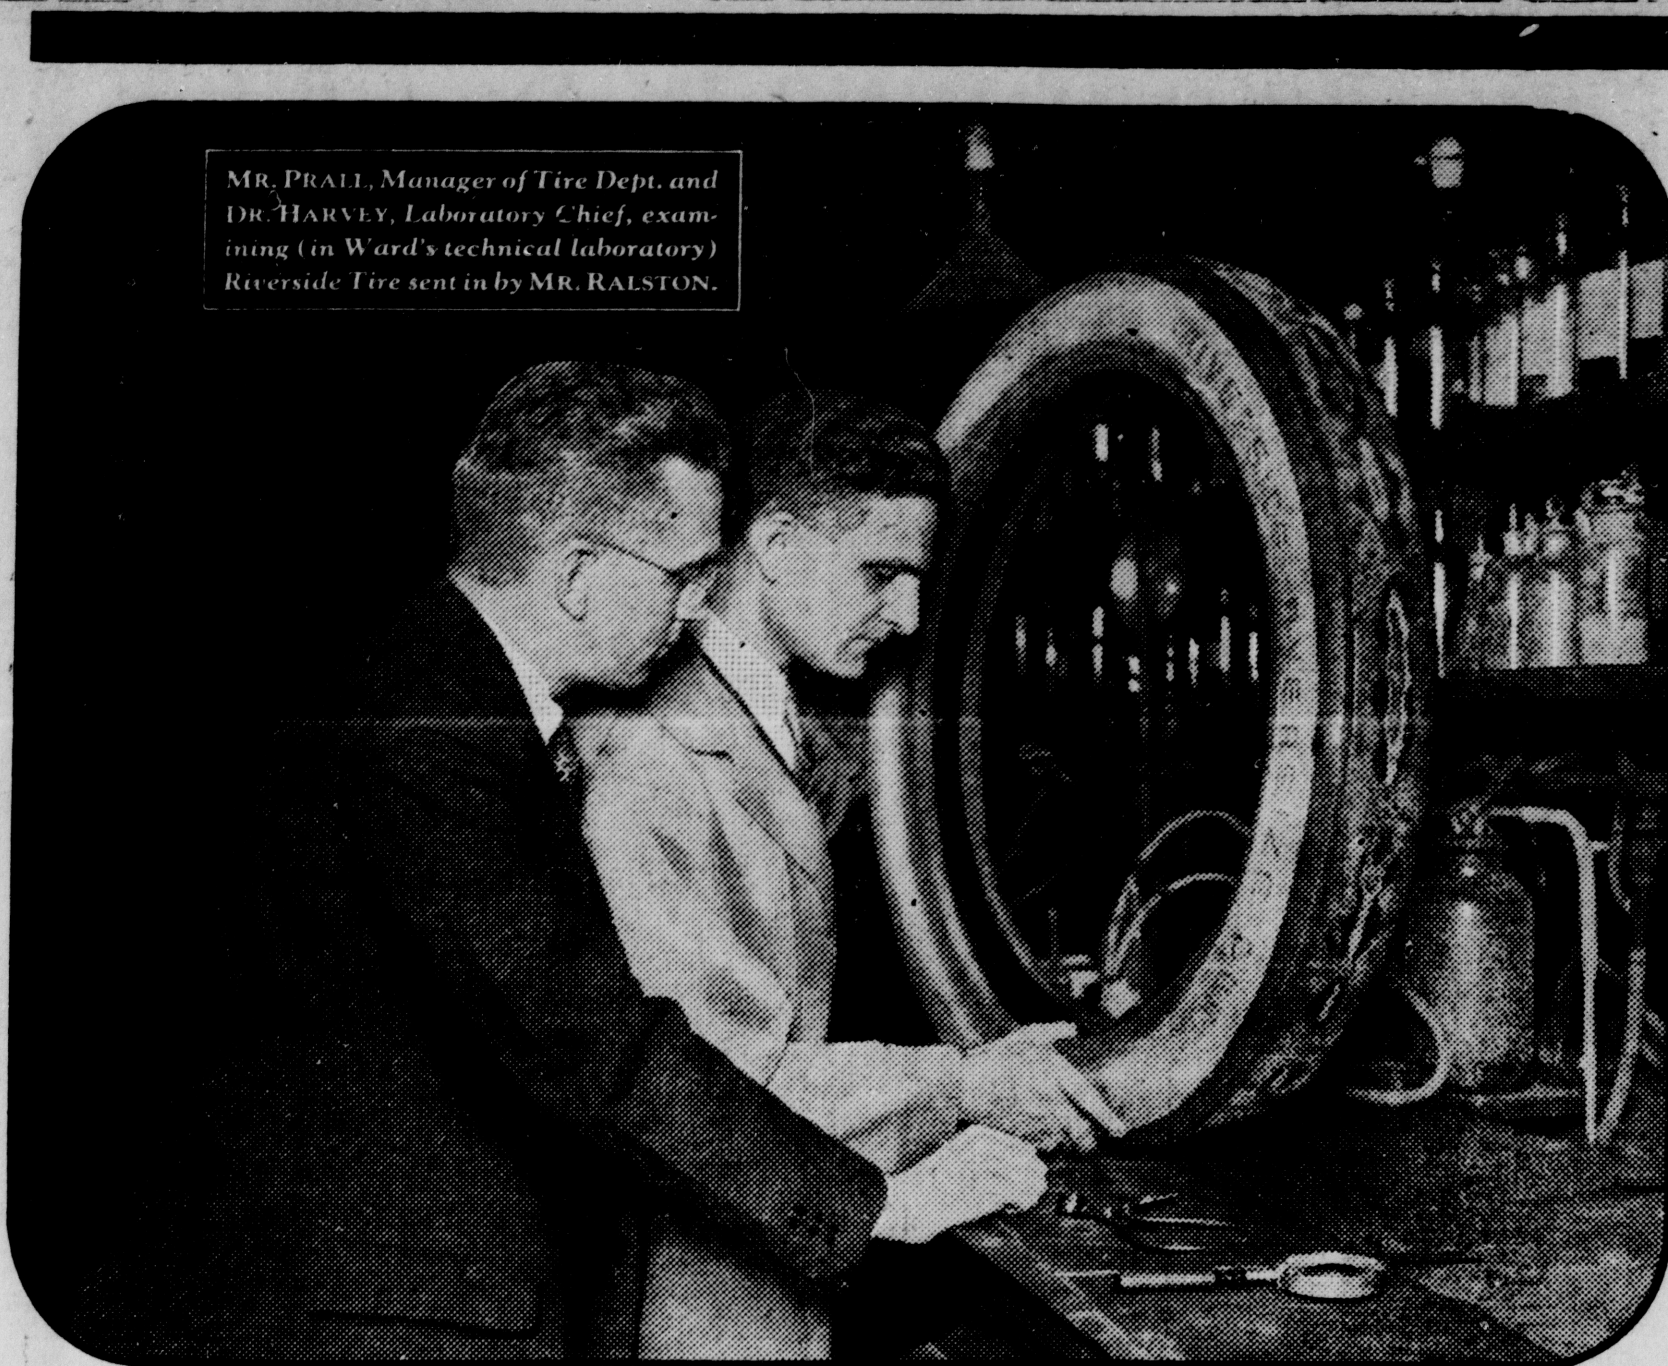

The fantastic explanation has been advanced that the Canadian Indians originated the game of ice hockey by taking la crosse (called baggataway by the aborigines) and making it applicable to play on skates. In contradiction, the French-Canadians maintain that their ancestors were the inventors. Still other factions claim that ice hockey was a "steal" either from "bandy," a somewhat similar sport that originated in England, or "shinty," as played in Scotland, or "hurley," the Irish winter pastime. The now proved facts are that ice hockey was created merely by taking field hockey and playing it on ice. The first game ever played was in Montreal in December, 1879. The first hockey rules were drawn up on September 17, 1879, by R. F. Smith of Montreal.

Dividing Child's Day

According to the White House conference about six hours should be given to school work, and a child twelve years of age should have eleven hours' sleep. The dividing of the remaining hours of the day would depend on the individual case.

Religion of a Farmer

There is more work in this universe than atoms and electrons; intelligence, purposefulness, good will are at the heart of the universe.—Country Home.

MR. PRALL, Manager of Tire Dept. and DR. HARVEY, Laboratory Chief, examining (in Ward's technical laboratory) Riverside Tire sent in by MR. RALSTON.

86,000 MILES

Here's an endurance record that speaks for RIVERSIDE Quality. The tire shown above was sent us by Mr. J. H. Ralston of Delano, California, as an expression of his satisfaction with RIVERSIDE service. Over all kinds of roads, and in all kinds of weather, this sturdy RIVERSIDE clicked off mileage. Twenty thousand, fifty thousand, seventy-five thousand miles—and still going strong! And at last, after his RIVERSIDE Cord had covered better than 86,000 miles, Mr. Ralston sent it back to Ward's as an example of RIVERSIDE endurance.

WARD'S RIVERSIDES are Turning in Amazing Mileage Records All Over America! 42,000, 68,000, 86,000 MILES!

AFTER all, you buy a tire for just one thing—and that's MILEAGE. And you do get MILEAGE when you buy a Riverside. Note the tire above that covered 86,000 miles. And Mr. C. A. Puariea of Portland, Ore., writes us about four Riversides that have covered 42,000 miles and are still in use. Mr. R. H. Easter of Elma, Washington, reports a Riverside in use every day on a school bus covered 68,000 miles. These three examples are but typical of the scores of letters and reports we are constantly receiving on Riverside performance. These three testimonials came to us unsolicited—they were not bought at a price!

No wonder jealous tire makers and dealers are becoming alarmed over the tremendous swing of tire buyers to Riversides. The most unfair and bitter tactics ever known in the tire industry are being used today to fight Ward's Riversides. Advertising has appeared all over the country in which mail order tires are referred to as "mongrels." Unfair comparison charts are being published and displayed by competitors. Second line tires are being offered under nationally known tire names at the same prices as first quality Riversides—BUT THEY CAN'T BEAT RIVERSIDE PERFORMANCE, AND THAT'S WHAT COUNTS, and that's what the customer wants.

We'll Match Riversides ... on the Road ... Against ANY Tire Made and We'll Beat it in Price!

Riverside tires are one of the best known in America. They have been sold for 19 years. They are made by one of the largest tire companies in the world. They are built to the most rigid specifications known. They are the finest quality it is possible to produce. They are backed by a guarantee that is without limit as to time or mileage. AND THEY SELL FOR LESS THAN ANY FIRST QUALITY NATIONALLY ADVERTISED TIRE ON THE MARKET! These sound like sensational claims. But they're FACTS. Montgomery Ward & Co., one of the largest merchandising institutions in the world, now in its 59th year in business, stands back of every claim made in its advertisements. Note this—the nationally advertised tires offered you at the same prices as Riversides are NOT the first quality tires of the manufacturers who make them—but their second quality tires—put on the market to meet Riverside prices. So, always compare qualities as well as prices. The table at the right lists some of the best known first quality tires that DO compare with Riversides in quality—YOU COMPARE THE PRICES!

COMPARE

Here are some leading makes of tires that are similar in quality to our 4-ply Riversides, and the published list prices:

SIZE	WARD'S RIVERSIDES (4-ply)	Firestone Gum-Dipped High Speed Goodrich J. Weather Goodrich Silvertown (4-ply)

Here are some leading makes of tires that are similar in quality to our 6-ply Riversides, and the published list prices:

SIZE	WARD'S RIVERSIDES Heavy Duty (6-ply)	Firestone Gum-Dipped High Speed Heavy Duty Goodrich J. Weather Heavy Duty Goodrich Silvertown (6-ply)
29x4.40/21	$7.15	$10.10
30x4.50/21	7.48	10.80

28x5.25/18	9.60	13.50
31x5.25/21	10.25	14.75
29x5.50/19	10.95	15.20
30x5.50/20	11.10	16.10

Not all sizes have been listed—but enough to give an idea of how prices compare. And by the way, Ward's prices are even LESS when you buy in PAIDS.

FINAL BLOCK 82 AUCTION THURSDAY

Five Houses and Some Outbuildings Remain; All Must go Says School Board

REMOVED BY JULY 10

At Present Time One Family is Quarantined in Home in Block With Scarlet Fever

Five houses and some outbuildings will be put on the block in the final auction for the disposal of the remaining buildings unsold on Block 82, site of the new junior high school to be constructed this year. The auction will take place Thursday evening in the Washington high school.

The Brainerd Board of Education, supervisors of the auction while Louis F. Hohman, secretary, wields the hammer, has ordered that all buildings must go to the highest bidders for cash.

If the auction of the buildings as they stand is without satisfactory bidding, installations such as bath room equipment, fixtures, furnaces, etc., will be sold individually at the auction.

The former auction brought $207 for the old McPherson property and garage and the John Lyng house.

All buildings must be removed by July 10.

Meanwhile the board was faced with the problem of one family, that of W. L. L. Smith being in quarantine in a home in the northeast corner of the block.

If the board insisted the family could be removed but such action will unlikely be taken, Mr. Hohman said. The family has scarlet fever.

FARMERS PLOW UNDER RYE, HIT BY HAIL

Brainerd Dispatch country correspondents reported today from various sections that due to the hail storm of last week many farmers are forced to plow under their rye fields.

The hail also caused some damage to other crops.

"BIG RICH" POET LAUREATE FISHES

E. A. Richardson, Successor to James Whitcomb Riley, Visits Brainerd En Route North

E. A. Richardson, "Big Rich," Indiana's Poet Laureate, came to Brainerd today to predict that when he "gets on the lakes the fish had better be careful because he's going to hook just the big ones and plenty of them."

Mr. Richardson is accompanied by his wife and family. They will journey to Pokegama Lake where they will visit Mr. Richardson's brother, L. Richardson.

One of Mr. Richardson's most popular assets is his winning smile. He calls it "My Alligator Grin" and has penned the following poem in dedication to it:

"My Alligator Grin"

Never did I fail to win
With my alligator grin,
When I'm running thru a crowd
Ista-yellin' big and loud,
Like I knowed most every one
That's a livin' neath the sun;
If I meet a boy or girl
I don't greet them with a snarl,
For I want to make a friend
And I never fail to win
With my alligator grin.

If my face is black as dirt,
If a hole is in my shirt,
If my pants are 'way too short
I don't swear and fuss and snort;
And if they look real tough
I ist 'magine they're the stuff,
And I hold my head up high,
And I keep a cheerful eye,
For I think it ain't no sin
If I want to make a friend
With my alligator grin.

REGIMENTAL BAND HERE WEDNESDAY

Popular Band Now at Camp Ripley to Present Concert at Gregory Park

The famed 125th artillery regimental band in dress uniform and present with its colors will be popularly received here tomorrow evening when it appears in a concert at Gregory Park, according to arrangements with Col. Ramshaw of the regiment now stationed at Camp Ripley.

A special program of military and other airs will be heard.

The Brainerd Municipal band will postpone its regular program that evening in deference to the visitors.

Washington and the Stage

The play and pageant department of the George Washington bicentennial commission says that he had his first contact with the theater when he witnessed the play "The Tragedy of George Barnwell," when he was in the Barbados with his sick brother, Lawrence. Washington notes in his diaries that on Thursday, November 15, 1751, he "was treated with a play ticket by M. Carter to see 'The Tragedy of George Barnwell' acted. The character of Barnwell and several others was said to be well performed there was Musick a Dapied and regularly conducted by M." After this time Washington was a great lover of the theater.

Unfriendly Wish

The two young men were walking along the road when one of them stopped and clutched at his companion's arm.

"I say, George," he said. "I thought you were a friend of Hatton. He's just passed you by without saying a word."

"We're not friends any longer," George replied. "The last time he went abroad he sent me a postcard. On the back were the words, 'Wish you were here.'"

"But I don't quite see—" interrupted his friend.

"No? Well, it was a postcard of a foreign prison."—London Answers.

GILLESPIE ADMITS THIRTY ROBBERIES

Riverton Man Charged With Partner Arraigned at Carlton in Aged Man's Slaying

Thirty robberies, some in the neighborhood of Brainerd, have been laid to the escapades of Clarence Gillespie, 20, Riverton, and Ed. Foster, 25, Ladysmith, Wis., now held in the Carlton county jail on first degree murder charges.

The two are charged with the slaying of Clarence Wilson, alias Charles Welch, 65, a patron of the Carlton cafe in which the prisoners battled police officers to evade arrest.

Gillespie and Foster were arraigned in justice court at Carlton Tuesday. They waived examination and were held to the next session of the grand jury. A special grand jury will probably be called this week.

Among other robberies which the pair confessed to perpetrating in the past month are those of the Pequot M. and L. railway station and a number of cottage breaks in the Brainerd lake country. The depot robbery netted the burglars only a small quantity of stamps.

WCCO PLAYERS REVERT TO STAGE

Brainerd to See and Hear Radio Stars in Play Saturday Evening at High School

Putting on a play in a radio studio, surrounded by specially built, sound-proof walls, with the audience successfully hidden behind cold, unresponsive microphones, is one thing. Putting on a play with a real audience, with footlights and scenery, dressing rooms and spotlights, is distinctly another.

The WCCO Players, who will appear in the Brainerd high school the evening of Saturday, June 27, under auspices of the Mahlum-Hanson post No. 1647, Veterans of Foreign Wars, have had experience with both kinds of plays. They agree that both require skill and training, although so different that it is hard to find a basis for comparison.

In the radio studio the emphasis is entirely on the voice. The voice must express everything. There is no opportunity for pantomime, the art of the gesture. Through what the actor says, the radio listener understands the setting, the action, the time.

"There is no question, however," Joe Anley, director of the WCCO Players, declares, "that acting in a radio studio is an aid to acting on the legitimate stage. The training in voice culture is excellent. The voice must be made responsive to every emotion and this responsiveness carries over onto the legitimate stage."

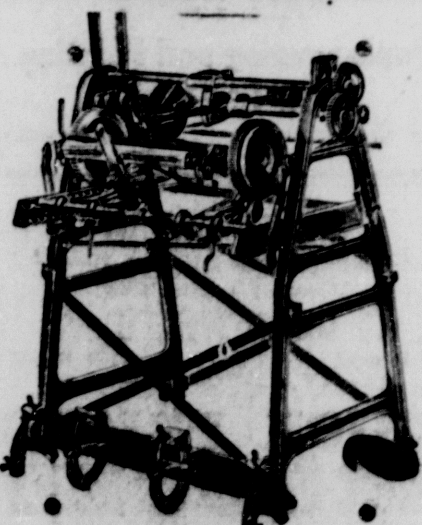

There is one feature of studio acting, however, that the WCCO Players will dispense with to a certain extent when they make their personal appearance in Brainerd. That is the services of the sound technician whose work it is to manufacture all the noises that go with a radio play. In fact, Bob Jefferson, expert sound technician for WCCO, will take over the work of stage manager instead when the Players are in Brainerd.

In his work as sound technician, Mr. Jefferson has developed all sorts of methods, some almost uncanny, of producing various sounds. A match drawn across a finger nail file creates the romantic creaking sound of a porch swing. Pressing a finger into a bowl of corn starch makes the sound, over the microphone, of footsteps in the snow. Leather straps beating against a board makes the sound of an airplane motor. Altogether, Mr. Jefferson has become an expert at the sound of breaking china, tearing cloth, etc.

PAINTER ON HIGH ROOF WINS FIGHT WITH LARGE HAWK

Miami, Fla., June 23.—(U.P.)—Gerald Lanham, painter, went back to work today atop the county courthouse roof to resume his job left off yesterday when he won a spectacular battle with a large hawk 400 feet above the pavement.

While a crowd of curious spectators watched from the ground Lanham fought off the bird with a paint brush. The hawk retreated when he slapped paint into its open beak. Lanham likewise quit for the day because of nervousness.

FINAL BLOCK 82 AUCTION THURSDAY

Five Houses and Some Outbuildings Remain; All Must go Says School Board

REMOVED BY JULY 10

At Present Time One Family is Quarantined in Home in Block With Scarlet Fever

Five houses and some outbuildings will be put on the block in the final auction for the disposal of the remaining buildings unsold on Block 82, site of the new junior high school to be constructed this year. The auction will take place Thursday evening in the Washington high school.

The Brainerd Board of Education, supervisors of the auction while Louis F. Hohman, secretary, wields the hammer, has ordered that all buildings must go to the highest bidders for cash.

If the auction of the buildings as they stand is without satisfactory bidding, installations such as bath room equipment, fixtures, furnaces, etc., will be sold individually at the auction. The former auction brought $207 for the old McPherson property and garage and the John Lyng house.

All buildings must be removed by July 10.

Meanwhile the board was faced with the problem of one family, that of W. L. L. Smith being in quarantine in a home in the northeast corner of the block.

If the board insisted the family could be removed but such action will unlikely be taken, Mr. Hohman said. The family has scarlet fever.

FARMERS PLOW UNDER RYE, HIT BY HAIL

Brainerd Dispatch country correspondents reported today from various sections that due to the hail storm of last week many farmers are forced to plow under their rye fields. The hail also caused some damage to other crops.

"BIG RICH" POET LAUREATE FISHES

E. A. Richardson, Successor to James Whitcomb Riley, Visits Brainerd En Route North

E. A. Richardson, "Big Rich," Indiana's Poet Laureate, came to Brainerd today to predict that when he "gets on the lakes the fish had better be careful because he's going to hook just the big ones and plenty of them."

Mr. Richardson is accompanied by his wife and family. They will journey to Pokegama Lake where they will visit Mr. Richardson's brother, L. Richardson. One of Mr. Richardson's most popular assets is his winning smile. He calls it "My Alligator Grin" and has penned the following poem in dedication to it:

"My Alligator Grin"

Never did I fail to win
With my alligator grin,
When I'm running thru a crowd
Leta-yellin' big and loud,
Like I knowed most every one
That's a livin' 'neath the sun;
If I meet a boy or girl
I don't greet them with a snarl,
For I want to make a friend
And I never fail to win
With my alligator grin.

If my face is black as dirt,
If a hole is in my shirt,
If my pants are 'way too short
I don't swear and fuss and snort;
If they look real tough
I ist 'magine they're the stuff,
And I hold my head up high,
And I keep a cheerful eye,
For I think it ain't no sin
If I want to make a friend
With my alligator grin.

REGIMENTAL BAND HERE WEDNESDAY

Popular Band Now at Camp Ripley to Present Concert at Gregory Park

The famed 125th artillery regimental band in dress uniform and present with its colors will be popularly received here tomorrow evening when it appears in a concert at Gregory Park, according to arrangements with Col. Ramshaw of the regiment now stationed at Camp Ripley.

A special program of military and other airs will be heard.

The Brainerd Municipal band will postpone its regular program that evening in deference to the visitors.

Washington and the Stage

The play and pageant department of the George Washington bicentennial commission says that he had his first contact with the theater when he witnessed the play "The Tragedy of George Barnwell," when he was in the Barbados with his sick brother, Lawrence. Washington notes in his diaries that on Thursday, November 15, 1751, he "was treated with a play ticket by M. Carter to see 'The Tragedy of George Barnwell' acted. The character of Barnwell and several others was said to be well performed there was music a Dapied and regularly conducted by M." After this time Washington was a great lover of the theater.

Unfriendly Wish

The two young men were walking along the road when one of them stopped and clutched at his companion's arm.

"I say, George," he said, "I thought you were a friend of Hatton. He's just passed you by without saying a word."

"We're not friends any longer," George replied. "The last time he went abroad he sent me a postcard. On the back were the words, 'Wish you were here.'"

"But I don't quite see—" interrupted his friend.

"No? Well, it was a postcard of a foreign prison."—London Answers.

GILLESPIE ADMITS THIRTY ROBBERIES

Riverton Man Charged With Partner Arraigned at Carlton in Aged Man's Slaying

Thirty robberies, some in the neighborhood of Brainerd, have been laid to the escapades of Clarence Gillespie, 20, Riverton, and Ed. Foster, 25, Ladysmith, Wis., now held in the Carlton county jail on first degree murder charges.

The two are charged with the slaying of Clarence Wilson, alias Charles Welch, 65, a patron of the Carlton cafe in which the prisoners battled police officers to evade arrest.

Gillespie and Foster were arraigned in justice court at Carlton Tuesday. They waived examination and were held to the next session of the grand jury. A special grand jury will probably be called this week.

Among other robberies which the pair confessed to perpetrating in the past month are those of the Pequot M. and I. railway station and a number of cottage breakins in the Brainerd lake country. The depot robbery netted the burglars only a small quantity of stamps.

WCCO PLAYERS REVERT TO STAGE

Brainerd to See and Hear Radio Stars in Play Saturday Evening at High School

Putting on a play in a radio studio, surrounded by specially built, sound-proof walls, with the audience successfully hidden behind cold, unresponsive microphones, is one thing. Putting on a play with a real audience, with footlights and scenery, dressing rooms and spotlights, is distinctly another.

The WCCO Players, who will appear in the Brainerd high school the evening of Saturday, June 27, under auspices of the Mahlum-Hanson post No. 1647, Veterans of Foreign Wars, have had experience with both kinds of plays. They agree that both require skill and training, although so different that it is hard to find a basis for comparison.

In the radio studio the emphasis is entirely on the voice. The voice must express everything. There is no opportunity for pantomime, the art of the gesture. Through what the actor says, the radio listener understands the setting, the action, the time.

"There is no question, however," Joe Anley, director of the WCCO Players, declares, "that acting in a radio studio is an aid to acting on the legitimate stage. The training in voice culture is excellent. The voice must be made responsive to every emotion and this responsiveness carries over onto the legitimate stage."

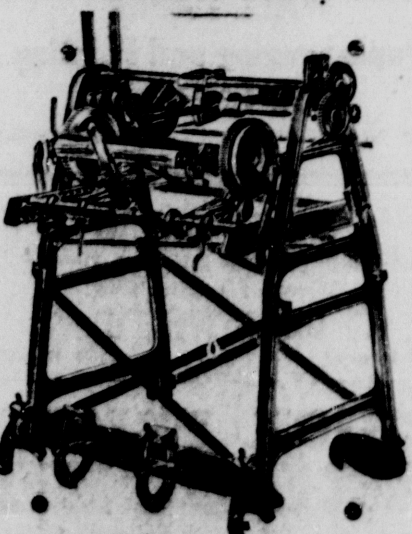

There is one feature of studio acting, however, that the WCCO Players will dispense with to a certain extent when they make their personal appearance in Brainerd. That is the services of the sound technician whose work it is to manufacture all the noises that go with a radio play. In fact, Bob Jellison, expert sound technician for WCCO, will take over the work of stage manager instead when the Players are in Brainerd.

In his work as sound technician, Mr. Jellison has developed all sorts of methods, some almost uncanny, of producing various sounds. A match drawn across a finger nail file creates the romantic creaking sound of a porch swing. Pressing a finger into a bowl of corn starch makes the sound, over the microphone, of footsteps in the snow. Leather straps beating against a board makes the sound of an airplane motor. Altogether, Mr. Jellison has become an expert at the sound of breaking china, tearing cloth, etc.

PAINTER ON HIGH ROOF WINS FIGHT WITH LARGE HAWK

Miami, Fla., June 23.—(UP)—Gerald Lanham, painter, went back to work today atop the county courthouse roof to resume his job left off yesterday when he won a spectacular battle with a large hawk 400 feet above the pavement.

While a crowd of curious spectators watched from the ground Lanham fought off the bird with a paint brush. The hawk retreated when he slapped paint into its open beak. Lanham likewise quit for the day because of nervousness.

"A KNIGHT COMES FLYING"

Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. by Eustace L. Adams © 1931, by The Dial Press, Inc.

Dave Ordway, wealthy, young aviator, lands his disabled plane in the Florida orange grove owned by Joan Marbury. Joan and her cousin, Sally, alone on the plantation, have great difficulty in running the place due to the interference of Mueller, their disreputable neighbor. When Dave refuses Mueller's demand of $2,000 for the damage to his property, crashing through the trees to his landing on the Marbury plantation, Mueller holds him up and relieves him of $850, threatening to collect more. That night Mueller sets fire to Dave's plane. Rushing to the scene, Dave encounters Mueller. A quarrel ensues. Joan rescues Dave. Under Sally's care, Dave recovers from the effects of his fight. Though attracted to Sally, he admires the reserved Joan's courage. Sally, anxious to return north for a good time, urges Joan to accept Dave's offer to purchase the plantation. Joan tells of the "accidents" to the property following her repulsion of Mueller's advances.

CHAPTER IX.

THE beast wanted to marry Joan," Sally blurted out. "What?" Dave's voice snapped like a whip. "Yes," said Sally, "and when Joan laughed at him he told her the day would come when she would beg him to marry her."

The pilot sat silent for many moments, fighting down a red surge of anger that swept over him like a fever. When he spoke, his voice was low and steady.

"This airplane of his, Joan," he said. "While I was up in that bed, trying to forget my aches and pains, I spent most of my time wondering what he was doing with an expensive amphibian. He could have bought an ordinary land ship that would take him over these parts for a matter of ten or fifteen thousand dollars. That amphibian cost him at least twenty-five. Have you any idea what he uses it for?"

"Not the slightest," she replied. "It comes and goes, always flying either north or south. I do know that he doesn't go up in it much himself. I've seen him often when I knew his plane was away on a trip."

Unexpected Visitors

From beyond the groves to the west came the sound of an engine. The three sat silent, listening.

"It's a motor car," said David, positively. The drone of the motor drew closer, rising and falling as the driver adjusted his speed to the ruts and bumps of the long-neglected county road. The long, conical beams of the headlights cut twin slices out of the night as they bored their way past wasteland and grove.

Dave could hear the sound of voices as the oncoming strangers protested loudly against the careening and bouncing of the car. He relaxed his taut muscles. Men who come on mischievous errands come silently. The automobile, a long black blur behind the swinging headlights, skidded to a stop in front of the house.

"Hey!" called a man's voice.

"Got a bird named Ordway in there?" "Good Lord!" groaned Dave. "That's Gerry Flemming and a gang!"

For an instant he sat irresolute, on the point of hiding until the girls had sent his friends away. But as his quick mind weighed the possibilities, a powerful spotlight blazed from the car's windshield, swiveled around to ward the house and flooded the porch in its blue-white incandescence.

"Well, well, well," came another masculine voice. "If this doesn't look like a party! Aren't you going to invite us up?"

No Easy Matter

"Talbot Henderson!" exclaimed Dave, pushing himself out of his chair with an effort. "You girls wait here. I'll try to get rid of them. I may have to shoot them all, but I'll do it!"

But he was too late. The searchlight now, Davey, you must take us to the nearest good hotel. We've been driving for hours and hours over the most abominable roads. We're just dying of hunger. I mean, we really are! We have two suitcases full of your things and Gerry remembered to pack your dinner clothes. So run along, now, and say good-bye to your hostesses."

"Listen, you idiots," Dave gasped. "You are sixty miles from the nearest hotel. This is the house of two young ladies who picked me up when I crashed in their back yard. Come on up and put on your decent manners while I present you. Then we'll try to figure out what's the best thing to do."

"Delighted," drawled Talbot, who had seen the girls when the searchlight had been focused on the porch.

Gerry slammed the car door, morosely, as was his habit when a little confused about something.

"Good Lord!" groaned Dave. "That's Gerry Flemming and a gang."

light was snapped off. As he limped down the gravel path he could hear the opening and closing of metallic doors.

"Hello, you nit-wits," he called, blinded by the sudden darkness. "I'm glad to see you and all that, of course. I'm still trying to get over my shock of surprise."

"Aren't you a little selfish, Davey, dear?" cooed a girl's voice out of the darkness. "In trying to keep both of those beautiful young ladies to yourself?"

Dave came to an abrupt stop, staring at the blackness of the car.

"Barbara!" he exclaimed. "What on earth are you doing here?"

Before she could reply, Gerry was slapping him on the back and Talbot was helping the girl down from the low, rakish Hispano-Suiza.

"Quit pounding me!" Dave protested. "I've got a couple of broken ribs and I can hear them rattling like the fenders on a Ford. Quit it I say!"

"Oh, I'm so sorry, Davey," purred Barbara. "Gerry, you fool, let him alone. As soon as we get back to St. Petersburg, you must go straight to Doctor Van Sickle."

No one had ever accused Gerry of being very bright.

Actions Speak Louder

"Aren't you glad to see me, Dave?" pouted Barbara as they walked up the gravel path.

"Yes, of course I am," protested Dave, a little too vehemently.

Barbara glanced at him out of the corners of her eyes but the expression on his face was blotted out in the surrounding night. The graceless Talbot chuckled maliciously. Dave longed to kick him.

Introductions were speedily effected. Joan and Sally received the visitors with perfect poise. Talbot instantly made himself at home, enjoying the situation immensely. Gerry murmured the conventional phrases and favored the grinning Talbot with a gloomy stare of perplexity. Barbara was very polite.

"I heard you say that you hadn't had your dinner," said Joan, simply, "so I've asked Hannah to put something on the stove."

"That's too sweet of you," murmured Barbara, languidly, and let it go at that.

Probably Regretted Wish

Wishes come true most disastrously sometimes. A farmer with a good milk cow, living at Bothaville, South Africa, had much trouble with it breaking through the fence into his vegetable garden. In anger he wished it would die. His wish was fulfilled that afternoon when, during a slight thunderstorm, the cow was struck dead by lightning, and the farmer was deprived of his milk and had the trouble of rearing a young calf.

Consort Untrue to Napoleon

Marie Louise of Austria deserted Napoleon when he was on his way to Elba and returned to Vienna with Count Neipperg. While Napoleon was at St. Helena, Marie Louise lived openly with Neipperg at Parma, and she bore the count a son shortly after the death of her exiled husband.

Dave Ordway, wealthy, young aviator, lands his disabled plane in the Florida orange grove owned by Joan Marbury. Joan and her cousin, Sally, alone on the plantation, have great difficulty in running the place due to the interference of Mueller, their disreputable neighbor. When Dave refuses Mueller's demand of $2,000 for the damage to his property, crashing through the trees to his landing on the Marbury plantation, Mueller holds him up and relieves him of $850, threatening to collect more. That night Mueller sets fire to Dave's plane. Rushing to the scene, Dave encounters Mueller. A quarrel ensues. Joan rescues Dave. Under Sally's care, Dave recovers from the effects of his fight. Though attracted to Sally, he admires the reserved Joan's courage. Sally, anxious to return north for a good time, urges Joan to accept Dave's offer to purchase the plantation. Joan tells of the "accidents" to the property following her repulsion of Mueller's advances.

CHAPTER IX.

THE beast wanted to marry Joan," Sally blurted out. "What?" Dave's voice snapped like a whip.

"Yes," said Sally, "and when Joan laughed at him he told her the day would come when she would beg him to marry her."

The pilot sat silent for many moments, fighting down a red surge of anger that swept over him like a fever. When he spoke, his voice was low and steady.

"This airplane of his, Joan," he said, "while I was up in that bed, trying to forget my aches and pains, I spent most of my time wondering what he was doing with an expensive amphibian. He could have bought an ordinary land ship that would take him over these parts for a matter of ten or fifteen thousand dollars. That amphibian cost him at least twenty-five. Have you any idea what he uses it for?"

"Not the slightest," she replied. "It comes and goes, always flying either north or south. I do know that he doesn't go up in it much himself. I've seen him often when I knew his plane was away on a trip."

Unexpected Visitors

From beyond the groves to the west came the sound of an engine. The three sat silent, listening.

"It's a motor car," said David, positively. The drone of the motor drew closer, rising and falling as the driver adjusted his speed to the ruts and bumps of the long-neglected county road. The long, conical beams of the headlights cut twin slices out of the night as they bored their way past waste-land and grove.

Dave could hear the sound of voices as the oncoming strangers protested loudly against the careening and bounding of the car. He relaxed his taut muscles. Men who come on mischievous errands come silently. The automobile, a long black blur behind the swinging headlights, skidded to a stop in front of the house.

"Hey!" called a man's voice.

"Good Lord!" groaned Dave. "That's Gerry Flemming and a gang!"

For an instant he sat irresolute, on the point of hiding until the girls had sent his friends away. But as his quick mind weighed the possibilities, a powerful spotlight blazed from the car's windshield, swiveled around toward the house and flooded the porch in its blue-white incandescence.

"Well, well, well," came another masculine voice. "If this doesn't look like a party! Aren't you going to invite us up?"

No Easy Matter

"Talbot Henderson!" exclaimed Dave, pushing himself out of his chair with an effort. "You girls wait here. I'll try to get rid of them. I may have to shoot them all, but I'll do it!"

But he was too late. The searchlight had been focused on the porch. Gerry slammed the car door, morosely, as was his habit when a little confused about something.

"Listen, you idiots," Dave gasped. "You are sixty miles from the nearest town. This is the house of two young ladies who picked me up when I crashed in their back yard. Come on up and put on your decent manners while I present you. Then we'll try to figure out what's the best thing to do."

"Delighted," drawled Talbot, who had seen the girls when the searchlight had been focused on the porch.

Gerry slammed the car door, morosely, as was his habit when a little confused about something.

"Good Lord!" groaned Dave "That's Gerry Flemming and a gang."

light was snapped off. As he limped down the gravel path he could hear the opening and closing of metallic doors.

"Hello, you nit-wits," he called, blinded by the sudden darkness. "I'm glad to see you and all that, of course. I'm still trying to get over my shock of surprise."

"Aren't you a little selfish, Davey, dear," cooed a girl's voice out of the darkness, "in trying to keep both of those beautiful young ladies to yourself?"

Dave came to an abrupt stop, staring at the blackness of the car. "Barbara!" he exclaimed. "What on earth are you doing here?"

Before she could reply, Gerry was slapping him on the back and Talbot was helping the girl down from the low, rakish Hispano-Suiza.

"Quit pounding me!" Dave protested. "I've got a couple of broken ribs and I can hear them rattling like the fenders on a Ford. Quit it I say!"

"Oh, I'm so sorry, Davey," purred Barbara. "Gerry, you fool, let him alone. As soon as we get back to St. Petersburg, you must go straight to Doctor Van Sickle."

No one had ever accused Gerry of being very bright.

Actions Speak Louder

"Aren't you glad to see me, Dave?" pouted Barbara as they walked up the gravel path.

"Yes, of course I am," protested Dave, a little too vehemently.

Barbara glanced at him out of the corners of her eyes but the expression on his face was blotted out in the surrounding night. The graceless Talbot chuckled maliciously. Dave longed to kick him.

Introductions were speedily effected. Joan and Sally received the visitors with perfect poise. Talbot instantly made himself at home, enjoying the situation immensely. Gerry murmured the conventional phrases and favored the grinning Talbot with a gloomy stare of perplexity. Barbara was very polite.

"I heard you say that you hadn't had your dinner," said Joan, simply, "so I've asked Hannah to put something on the stove."

"That's too sweet of you," murmured Barbara, languidly, and let it go at that.

No such credit has been asked for by the Reichsbank, officials said.

Probably Regretted Wish

Wishes come true most disastrously sometimes. A farmer with a good milk cow, living at Bothaville, South Africa, had much trouble with it breaking through the fence into his vegetable garden. In anger he wished it would die. His wish was fulfilled that afternoon when, during a slight thunderstorm, the cow was struck dead by lightning, and the farmer was deprived of his milk and had the trouble of rearing a young calf.

Consort Untrue to Napoleon

Marie Louise of Austria deserted Napoleon when he was on his way to Elba and returned to Vienna with Count Neipperg. While Napoleon was at St. Helena, Marie Louise lived openly with Neipperg at Parma, and she bore the count a son shortly after the death of her exiled husband.
